British Meet Axis Drive In Libya

Armored Forces In New Clash

By RICHARD D. McMILLAN

CAIRO, May 27.—(BUP)—A strong Axis armored column supported by dive-bombers has been engaged by the British after driving about 70 miles across the Libyan desert in what may be the start of Col.-Gen. Erwin Rommel's long-anticipated offensive aimed at the Suez Canal, a British communique revealed today.

A headquarters communique said that "a large enemy armored force during the night advanced from the west to south of our positions around Bir Hacheim and early this morning the enemy was engaged by our armored forces."

Bir Hacheim is about 40 miles southwest of Tobruk in the desert, lying in the wide no-man's-land separating the recently inactive British and Axis advance positions.

McMillan

A strong German and Italian armored force under Rommel's command presumably struck from positions east of Mekili which lies 150 miles northwest of Bir Hacheim.

NOT AT MAIN LINE

The German forward positions from which the Axis advance started yesterday are based roughly on a line running between Mekili and Tmimi, between Tobruk and Derna.

Soviets Halt Nazi Drive In Vital Sector

MOSCOW, May 27—(AP)—The Red army, fighting with its back to a river, has brought the German offensive in the Izyum-Barvenkova sector to a standstill in the most important sector and has gained new ground in immediate counter-attacks, the Russians reported today.

While the conflict in the Ukraine thus progressed after two furious weeks, the Arctic end of the 2,000-mile front also quickened to life.

22 Survivors Of Nazi U-Boat Land On Brazil Island

RIO DE JANEIRO, May 27. — (BUP)—There's probably one less Axis submarine in the Atlantic. Press dispatches say that 22 survivors of a German submarine have landed on the island of Fernando Noronha, off Brazil's northeastern coast.

SHOT IN PRAGUE

No. 2 Gestapo Chief Is Wounded

LONDON, May 27.—(CP)—The German-controlled Prague radio announced today that Reinhard Heydrich, German protector for Bohemia and Moravia, had been wounded in a "murderous attack" and threatened terrible reprisals.

A state of emergency was said to have been declared over the entire Nazi-gripped fragment of Czecho-Slovakia and an announcement said:

"However hopes to hide the guilty persons or who gives them any kind of help or security, or secretly withholds any knowledge of the crime, will be executed."

A Czecho-Slovak government source here expressed fear that the wounding of Heydrich, No. 2 man of the German Gestapo, would let down the bars for a wave of executions in which Czechs would be slaughtered by hundreds in "mass executions of innocent people on a scale unprecedented—even in this war."

It was understood here the shooting occurred in Prague, where Heydrich announced last night, according to a German broadcast, that there would be a reorganization of the administrative set-up.

Czech circles here interpreted this as meaning Hitler had decided to incorporate Bohemia and Moravia outright into Germany.

One Czech source expressed the belief Heydrich had been shot in protest against his order conscripting Czech youths for service in Hitler's army in Russia.

Allied Sympathizers Break Up Vichy Fascist Parade

Tojo Claims Path Is Clear To Australia

By The Canadian Press

Japan's premier, Gen. Hideki Tojo, sounded a new threat to Australia today, asserting boastfully that "the naval forces in defence of Australia have disappeared, with nothing standing now to defend that country before the onslaught of the imperial Japanese forces."

Evidently a "fishing expedition" in quest of information, Tojo's report to Japan's claim of victory in the Coral Sea battle—discredited by Allied accounts—was accompanied by a renewed pledge of Japanese support for the Axis.

SOFT-PEDALS RUSSIA

"Japan will do her utmost to contribute her share as the partner of Germany and Italy," he told the Japanese parliament, in the presence of Emperor Hirohito.

But, as if to dispel the idea that Japan would help Germany by attacking Russia, Foreign Minister Shigenori Togo carefully explained:

"Relations between Japan and the Soviet Union have undergone no change even after the outbreak of war in greater East Asia."

"Enemy countries will, I presume, intensify their efforts to alienate Japan and the Soviet Union, but there is no chance for such intrigues to bear fruit so long as the Soviet Union firmly maintains the attitude mentioned."

He said Australia was "now helplessly expecting Japan's attack after the battle in the Coral Sea wiped away naval units put up for the defence of Australia . . ."

2 Ships Torpedoed, U.S. Trawler Sunk By Sub's Shellfire

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP)—The United States navy department announced today the torpedoing of a medium-sized British merchant vessel and a small Greek merchantman in the Atlantic, and the sinking by shellfire of a U.S. trawler. The shellfire came from an enemy submarine. Survivors of all three vessels have been landed at an east coast port.

By THOMAS F. HAWKINS

BERNE, Switzerland, May 27.—(AP)—A parade of French Fascists at Béziers in unoccupied France was broken up today by Allied sympathizers in a street battle which involved about 1,500 persons, it was reported, as political discussions at Vichy centred on possible adjustment of Italy's extensive territorial demands.

Information from the occupied zone said the fight at Beziers, a town in southern France near the coast west of Marseille, was ended by police intervention.

The parades were carrying anti-British and anti-Churchill placards when jeers from people on the sidewalks started the fighting.

FIGHT CONTINUING

Admiral Rene Platon, secretary of state in the Vichy foreign ministry, made a bitterly anti-British speech at Beziers yesterday.

Pierre Laval, the chief of government, is continuing talks with Governor-General Jean Esteva of Tunisia and Admiral Jean Darlan, chief of the armed forces.

Previous reports have stated Laval was tentatively discussing cessions in Tunisia in an effort to satisfy broader Italian claims for Nice and Corsica.

VALUABLE TO AXIS

Observers said Tunisia would be valuable for Axis operations and night satisfy the Italian clamor, and that at the same time Laval might feel he could risk a concession there where a concession of a piece of France's homeland would provoke too great a public reaction against him.

On the basis of 1938 figures, there were 108,000 Frenchmen and 94,000 Italians among Tunisia's 2,600,000 inhabitants.

However, diplomatic sources said either and perhaps more vital factors than a territorial deal might lie behind Axis pressure on Vichy.

They mentioned particularly continuing German efforts to reach some understanding on use of the French fleet—even if for no greater purpose than to convoy North African workers back to the continent to work for the Axis in French industry.

More Interest In Development Of Alberta Oil

Since January 1 this year 46 oil drilling licenses have been issued as compared to 24 for the corresponding period last year, according to a report issued Wednesday by the provincial department of lands and mines of which Hon. N. E. Tanner is minister. The report reveals the increased interest in Alberta oil.

For petroleum and natural gas exploration work covering an area of 484,732 acres, 12 applications have been granted to date this year. For the corresponding period last year applications covered an area of 128,688 acres. The 1942 applications include those granted to Shell Exploration (Alberta) Ltd.*

Exploratory work operations must be commenced within 60 days after the application has been granted, according to provisions under which lands are leased for exploratory work.

PETROLEUM LEASES

The department this year has granted 111 petroleum leases for operations on crown lands, involving 40,932 acres, as compared with 200 given for 48,338 acres in the corresponding period last year. The applicant has 12 months to start development work on petroleum leases.

An order-in-council has been passed which amends regulations governing development of mineral rights, it was announced on Wednesday by government officials.

Formerly, if an oil company could not reach a satisfactory agreement with the owner of the land on oil development work, the issue was referred to a district court judge. The new order provides that the public utilities commissioner will henceforth hear such cases. The result of this order is that in future only one body in the province will deal with matters involving mineral development.

Today's War Moves

By LOUIS P. KEEMLE

Copyright, 1942, by the British United Press and The Edmonton Bulletin

A study of current Axis propaganda shows the enemy is trying to spread confusion and doubt by including enough truth in his propaganda to make the whole of it seem plausible.

The method has worked in Europe, the Germans think it will work here.

A typical example of this form of propaganda has just come out of Germany, designed to discourage Americans about the war on Allied shipping. It was a statement by a government spokesman, recorded by the British United Press from an enemy broadcast.

Americans have been apprised that the shipping problem is serious, but that effective steps are being taken to solve it. It would be a disservice to be too pessimistic, creating a defeatist attitude. It likewise would do a lot to slacken the war effort.

In the statement in question, the German spokesman makes five points, designed to befuddle Americans and work on their nerves. Here

Canadian Legion Demands Immediate Enforcement Of All Compulsory War Acts

By MARSHALL BATEMAN

WINNIPEG, May 27.—(CP)—The Canadian Legion convention here yesterday unanimously demanded the federal government to carry out a total war effort by putting into effect "immediately" all necessary compulsory measures, including conscription of manpower for overseas service.

Unanimous approval was also given the rehabilitation report which will guide the Dominion command's committee in making representation to the federal government regarding re-establishment of veterans of this war after victory has been won.

During the busy session of the ninth biennial convention, delegates heard Major Gen. L. R. LaFleche, associate deputy minister of the department of national war services, state that "Canada must strip for action."

Gen. LaFleche, a French-Canadian and past president of the Dominion command, told of the practical and psychological effects of conscription. Conscription, if it is brought in, must be with equality of sacrifice and benefits arising from sacrifice. He warned of the danger, however, of over-committing Canada, and said:

"I would not want any part of this country to force such a matter upon another part of the country, but I do want and I do say, that it is in the interest of each part of this country and each racial group not to accept conscription but to

Giant Aerial Attack Is Mapped By Allies

By NED RUSSELL

LONDON, May 27. — (BUP) — British and United States strategists were understood today to be mapping a giant aerial offensive in which at least 200 tons of bombs would be hurled upon Germany every night, including huge new devastating "block bombs" which have never been used before.

The plans for the all-out "second front" aerial offensive which will be inaugurated when British and American strength is sufficiently marshalled, were reported following the arrival in Britain today of Lt.-Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, chief of the U.S. army services of supply.

With Somervell was Brig.-Gen. William C. Lee, commander of the new air-borne command of the army ground forces, and two other generals who will reinforce the U.S. delegation already here.

Somervell

British and American air experts in consultation were said to be agreed that no technical operational reason stands in the way of plans to send 1,000 bombers over Germany in a single night.

The chief obstacle lies in the weather and in a sufficient number of planes because the Empire Air Training Plan and U.S. personnel can provide enough trained manpower.

SIZE KEPT SECRET

The exact size and nature of the new British bombs which reportedly are capable of knocking down an entire row of buildings, cannot be revealed, but they are known to be considerably larger than the 4,000-pound bombs used by the R.A.F. in recent months.

In preparation for the forthcoming big-scale aerial assault, the R.A.F. is known to have explosives "several times larger" than anything dropped on Germany so far in the war.

The aerial offensive against Germany when it comes will be spearheaded by big bombers flying in excess of 200 miles an hour and capable of operating at heights of six and seven miles, and carrying five to eight tons of explosives.

The R.A.F., it is understood, has cut down on the practice of dropping bombs in sticks and now simply "plants the big ones" on specified targets to obtain the most devastating effects.

In connection with the joint consultations underway here, most allied strategists are agreed that knockout bombings must be the forerunner of any invasion of western Europe, blasting Nazi industries, supply lines, shipping and even concentrations of German resistance.

Member Of Quebec House Will Be Prosecuted Under Defence Canada Regulations

OTTAWA, May 27.—(CP)—Justice Minister St. Laurent today told the House of Commons he will take action against Rene Chaloult, member of the Quebec legislature, under the Defence of Canada regulations as a result of statements contained in a speech Mr. Chaloult made in Montreal, May 19.

The minister said his officers had studied newspaper reports of Mr. Chaloult's speech and had reported to him that the speech "clearly disclosed subversive intention and constituted an offence under the defence of Canada regulations."

The minister said he agreed with the report of his officers.

He said Mr. Chaloult had stated in the Quebec legislature, after his Montreal speech, that the report of the latter in the newspapers was not strictly accurate and not warranted by what he had said.

ACTION ORDERED

In view of that claim by Mr. Chaloult, the minister said, he had ordered that action be taken under the defence of Canada regulations in the district where the alleged offence occurred.

Mr. St. Laurent said this procedure was not to be taken as establishing a departure from the detention proceedings customarily followed in actions under authority of defence of Canada regulations.

Work In A.R.P. Duty Of Those Unable Fight

OTTAWA, May 27—(CP)—Hon. R. J. Manion, director of civil air raid precautions, told the fifth annual conference of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities today that A.R.P. work is a responsibility involving every person who is fit to work but unable to get into the armed forces.

"Everyone should contribute something to civilian defence," Dr. Manion said. "A.R.P. is the duty of citizens generally and should be effectively carried out by federal or provincial governments alone.

"It is not even the duty of the municipal government, except to direct. Each citizen must see to it that it works."

URGES VOLUNTEERING

He urged that citizens volunteer for whatever branch of civil defence work they can best do. Municipalities had the duty of seeing to the organization.

Mayor J. W. Cornett, of Vancouver, deputed Dr. Manion's statement that until last Dec. 7 Canada took A.R.P. as a bit of a joke.

Mayor Cornett also asked that arrangements be made for establishment of air raid shelters in the downtown areas of large cities, and that teeth be put into A.R.P. regulations so owners of large buildings might be made to prepare their premises for possible raids.

Nippon Forces Suffer Heavily At Kinhwa City

By ROBERT P. MARTIN

CHUNGKING, May 27—(BUP)—Chinese forces have killed 2,800 Japanese in repulsing attacks on Kinhwa in eastern Chekiang province and annihilated half of a Japanese force that tried to break through a trap on the Salween river in Yunnan province, a communique said tonight.

The Japanese have lost 10,800 men in their efforts to take Kinhwa. The Chinese said they had driven the enemy back north, northeast and south of the city.

The communique said that a second major attack was launched against the city Monday night and that the Chinese repulsed it and killed 1,500 Japanese, many of whom were blown to death by eight land mines sown along the approaches to the city.

Another 1,300 Japanese were killed northwest of Kinhwa when another attack was repulsed.

Heavy fighting was reported west of the Salween, where the Japanese were concentrating large forces of men and equipment for an expected push toward Chungking.

It was in this area that fliers of the American volunteer group bombed Japanese gun emplacements yesterday and today.

WINNIPEG, May 27—(CP)—Alex Walker of Calgary was re-elected Dominion president of the Canadian Legion, British Empire Service League, at the ninth biennial convention here today.

Also re-elected unanimously were: Lt.-Col. W. C. Nicholson of Montreal, first vice-president; Capt. G. H. Winchester of Ottawa, honorary treasurer; A. E. Moore of Winnipeg, Dominion chairman.

Maj. J. D. Winslow of Woodstock, N.B., and Col. L. D. F. Baxter of Winnipeg were nominated for the post of second vice-president of the Dominion command.

BYLAW PASSED

Bicycles To Be Impounded For Flagrant Breaches Of City Traffic Regulations

The "smart Aleck" cyclist who repeatedly disregards traffic bylaws had better mend his ways unless he is prepared to do without his bicycle for 30 days.

Tuesday evening Edmonton's city council passed a bylaw giving power to magistrates to impound for a period not exceeding 30 days the bicycle of any person convicted of repeated violations of traffic bylaws, or of a person convicted of a flagrant breach of these bylaws.

City Solicitor T. E. Garside told council that the bylaw was designed to eliminate the continued disregard of traffic regulations by young. Usually the offender's father paid the fine levied for the breach of the regulations, he said, and the offender did not feel the punishment. He said that the impounding of the bicycle would have a salutary effect on the offender.

Power to enact the bylaw which bicycles can be impounded was received from the provincial legislature at its last session. Enforcement of the bylaw will come into effect immediately.

Ald. Sidney Parsons asked if the provisions of the bylaw would be exerted against children riding their machines on sidewalks. He added that city streets in many districts were now impassable, the sidewalks being the only place that cyclists use.

Ald. Mrs. J. A. Clarke said that was a pity the children seemed to prefer riding on the sidewalks.

It was pointed out that the impounding of bicycles was discretionary with the convicting magistrate, and was in addition to any penalty imposed. "Undoubtedly the magistrate would use that discretionary power in relation to the flagrancy of the offence," Mr. Garside said.

Refunding Plan

J. A. Macdonnell, president and general manager of the National Trust Company Ltd., and also president of the Dominion Mortgage and Investments Association, who is participating in arrangements for the forthcoming conference of the Alberta Debt Refunding Committee.

Refund Meet Delayed For Negotiations

Date of the forthcoming conference of the Alberta Debt Refunding Committee on the proposed refunding of $121,000,000 of provincial debentures now held by the public is uncertain as yet, Hon. Solon E. Low, provincial treasurer and chairman of the committee, declared Wednesday.

The minister said he had been informed by J. M. Macdonnell, Toronto, chairman of the Alberta Bondholders' Committee, that negotiations were proceeding with officials in London, Eng., for the appointment of a representative of holders of Alberta bonds resident in the British Isles.

NO DECISION

Mr. Macdonnell informed Treasurer Low by wire that it had not yet been decided whether a representative would be sent over from London to attend the debt refunding conference in Edmonton or whether the appointment of a spokesman resident in Canada would be made.

Mr. Macdonnell is president and general manager of the National Trust Company Limited and also president of the Dominion Mortgage and Investments Association.

In view of the efforts being made to have a spokesman for the British bondholders attend the refunding meeting, the provincial government had agreed to delay the conference, Mr. Low explained.

Alberta government stock registered in London, Eng., and held principally by persons residing in the British Isles totals $17,223,556.

ONLY CHARRED RUINS AWAITED JAPS

Burma Oil Fields Fired With Ruthless Thoroughness

Newsman Describes Great Inferno At Yenangyaung As Power Plant Destroyed

Charles Fenn, an Associated Press correspondent, recently made a 1,000-mile tour of Burma. In this dispatch, written after his return to China, Fenn tells of some of the experiences he underwent.—EDITOR.

By CHARLES FENN

SOMEWHERE IN CHINA, May 27.—(AP)—When I arrived in Mandalay April 16, I found little left of the city except charred tree stumps and blackened heaps of bricks.

From Mandalay our mud-spattered, bullet-pocked army car carried us to Meiktila, a journey interrupted by hurried frequent scampers into ditches for protection from Japanese planes.

At Meiktila, while mechanics were tinkering with our car, a plane came over so low that from our ditch we could see the pilot looking over the side. It turned out to be a Hurricane, the only machine to escape an enemy strafing of an air base in northern Burma.

ORANGE-ROBED FIGURE

As it landed on a nearby runway we saw an orange-robed figure whom we recognized as a Pungyi, or Burmese priest, moving stealthily about.

"Hasn't taken that bird long to find out where I've landed and it won't take him long to let the Japs know," said the pilot.

Later in the morning a Burmese who had been caught looting was handed by a British captain to some Chinese soldiers nearby. He was shot.

Late in the afternoon, our car repaired, we were able to get on our way to Yenangyaung, the oil fields which were already being destroyed. The city was deserted except for fog, some British soldiers on guard and officials in charge of the destruction.

Nothing anywhere else could have been more completely destroyed than were the oil fields at Yenangyaung. All wooden derricks were burned and steel structures warped by the bonfires lighted below. Machinery at the well-head was blown up.

All that remained on the last day was the burning of houses kept intact until the last minute for use of evacuees and troops.

TURBINES MINED

We strapped explosives to the turbines of the $1,000,000 power plant running the Yenangyaung oil fields and also those at Chauk further up the line. The power plant and the high piled gasoline drums would be the last to go up.

As I was photographing the blaze, all the trees around me caught fire and rained a shower of sparks on the sun-dried grass which in turn began blazing.

The Japanese were near at hand and the power plant was blown up at midnight.

The plant was suddenly livid with flames which revealed walls flinging themselves outwards and a roof that dissolved at once into nothing. A split second later a cracking explosion tore the silence apart.

From Yenatgyaung I went to Meiktila which I found full of Chinese troops who had come up from Toungoo. The British soldiers were enthusiastic about their Chinese comrades who they said laughed at everything including hard work. A high ranking Chinese officer praised the Tommies.

LEAVE FOR LASHIO

My tour brought me back to Mayumyo once again the last time on April 26 and I left with a small party of American officers for Lashio.

The work of destroying all supplies which could not be moved out of Lashio was well in progress. I remained there until the evening of April 28. I had my last meal there.

As I was eating I heard the cry, "The Japs are coming." I climbed into a jeep with an allied officer and in a whirl of madly dashing cars we sped along, not stopping until we reached Wanting.

At last we were in free China.

Legion Wants All Japs Sent Back To Japan

WINNIPEG, May 27. — (CP)— The Canadian Legion today urged the Dominion government to prepare to send all Japanese nationals in Canada back to Japan as soon as possible after the cessation of hostilities.

A resolution, given unanimous approval at the ninth biennial convention, asking the Dominion government not to enter into a peace treaty that does not provide for such repatriation.

J. J. Mackinnon of Mission City, B.C., stated that no town or hamlet under inadequate surveillance most of the time.

of British Columbia and no province wants the Japanese. The Japanese nationals are sneezing "our people" out in the Fraser Valley, he added.

ASKS ALIEN EVACUATION

The Legion resolution requested that Japanese removed from the Pacific coast defence areas be placed away from all vital and war industry in other provinces for duration of the war.

Dr. E. W. Boak of Victoria moved that the convention demand immediate evacuation of German, Italian and other enemy aliens from the British Columbia defence areas. His resolution, also given unanimous approval, claimed aliens are

The convention decided to make representations to the department of national defence urging cancellation of all orders or regulations providing for the segregation of racial groups in training bases with the exception of French-Canadians.

Other approved resolutions requested:

That free transportation be granted all members of the Canadian active forces when on service leave, including sustenance allowance for any period over five days, with embarkation leave for those eligible irrespective of time of previous service leave;

That the government abolish all civilian employment in military camps, using enlisted men of low medical categories for such service;

That free transportation and sustenance be given to and from a recruiting officer to persons rejected after passing a preliminary medical examination;

PROMOTION FROM RANKS

That promotion in the active forces be from the ranks wherever possible;

That travelling dietitians be appointed for all hospitals and military establishments;

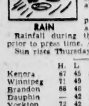

That Wartime Housing, Limited, be extended to permit building of new homes for families of men on active service;

That the federal government exempt widows' pensions and pensions of veterans from the national defence tax where such pensions are the sole income;

That the benefit of the Returned Soldiers' Insurance Act be made available to ex-servicemen whose insurable policies lapse and who are later in a position to renew them if afforded the opportunity, and that benefits of the act be made available to veterans of the present war.

Other pensions requests approved included a cost-of-living bonus for pensioners not permanently employed, and an increase in pensions of men suffering gunshot wounds when they reach the ages of 55.

British Meet New Attack By Axis In Libya

and the advance described in today's communique appeared to be one of about 75 miles.

The covering of such long distances in the desert war are not unusual, however, because of the use of mechanized forces and the fact that the Axis columns are not yet up against the British main line which lies west of Tobruk at a point about 150 miles inside the Libyan frontier from Egypt.

Today's communique said British armored forces were resisting the Axis columns south of Bir Hacheim but that "details of the fighting were not yet available."

AXIS AIR ACTIVITY

A British middle east headquarters communique revealed that enemy columns, including tanks "in some strength," started an advance yesterday. By nightfall, the Axis columns had not reached the imperial main positions.

The advance coincided with increased German and Italian aerial activity, particularly over British rear areas.

The communique described damage as "negligible" and said several enemy dive-bombers were destroyed during Axis attacks on British forward troops in the "northern sector" along the Mediterranean.

By DREW MIDDLETON

LONDON, May 27.—(AP)—The Germans in North Africa have started "an offensive of some sort" but it is too early to judge its size, a military commentator declared today as Axis tank columns and infantry moved eastward toward the main British positions.

Diplomatic sources said there were increasing signs the Axis was mounting a formidable land and naval move in the Mediterranean area.

The move in Libya was the first reported in any strength since Field Marshal Erwin Rommel made a tentative thrust with three columns April 8. Finding the British positions much stronger than expected, the Germans then held their positions while awaiting supplies and reinforcements carried across the Mediterranean under cover of air attacks on Malta.

BOTH REINFORCED

Rommel is estimated to have about 125,000 German and Italian troops, including one Italian and two German armored divisions, so far has moved forward.

But during the recent lull the British army has received reinforcements equal to those Rommel has obtained, and has been bolstered by armored divisions equipped with 28-ton tanks.

Both armies suffered heavily in last winter's battles, but the British armored divisions now are believed to be superior in armor, firepower and range.

Involved in the general Mediterranean prospects, diplomatic quarters said, are the massing of 300,000 Italian troops along the French border, Pierre Laval's discussions with French naval leaders, and a steady flow of supplies to Rommel as a result of Malta's recently-decreased usefulness as an air base.

SALIENT FACTORS

One informant listed the following as salient factors in weighing the possibility the Germans are planning a thrust at the land bridge connecting Europe, Africa and Asia with a view to breaking through the back door of the Caucasus:

1—Italian convoys have been able to cross the Mediterranean to North Africa frequently and safely since Malta's usefulness was impaired with the launching of an almost incessant Axis air attack about three months ago.

2—Rommel certainly has made up for his heavy winter losses and possibly has more than replaced them.

3—Crete is being used as a training ground for German parachute troops.

4—There are strong Italian garrisons in Greece and the Dodecanese Islands.

Italians Claiming U.S. Cruiser Hit

ROME (from Italian broadcasts), May 27—(AP)—The high command claimed today an Italian submarine had hit a United States cruiser with two torpedoes in the Atlantic at dawn Saturday.

The warship was identified in the communique as a 9,100-ton cruiser of the Pensacola class, said to have been "acting as a convoy escort."

War-boomed, mountainous Yunnan province, whose name means "South of the Clouds," is the battlefield where China fights a backdoor attack on Chungking. Burma Road traffic and the shifting of Chinese war industries west brought great activity to this ancient province, first conquered by Kublai Khan and now threatened by Jap drives from Burma and Indo-China. Rain may wash out Jap hopes of reaching Chungking by Yunnan, for the monsoon season just beginning presages many soggy months in this area.

Messina, Sicily, Bombed By R.A.F.

ROME (From Italian Broadcasts), May 27.—(AP)—Two waves of British bombers dropped high explosives and incendiaries last night upon Messina, Sicily, the Italian high command reported today.

● Seven persons were killed and 26 injured, the communique said.

"Clearing of debris is in progress," the high command added. "The behavior of the population was calm and disciplined."

Messina is reported to have been hit hard in previous British raids on Sicily and southern Italy Messina, a fortified harbor city which had a population of 114,651 in 1941, is seven miles from the Promontory of Faro which forms the northwest angle of Sicily.

Forest Fires Rage Unabated In North

SASKATOON, May 27—(CP)—Fires raged in various districts throughout Northern Saskatchewan and Manitoba yesterday, calling forth all available fire fighting equipment and men in regional efforts to quell the flames.

Reports reaching here from the Waskesiu, Carrot River and Hudson Bay Junction districts in Northern Saskatchewan said the fires were not yet under control, that hundreds of cords of pulpwood and millions of feet of standing timber had been destroyed in those areas.

At Hudsop Bay Junction fire wardens reported a large number of serious fires in a 50-mile radius.

HUDSON BAY JUNCTION, Sask., May 27.—(CP)—Forest flames swept the village of Hudson Bay, Sask., 18 miles south of here, late yesterday.

No casualties were reported but property damage estimated at several thousand dollars was caused when the fire destroyed a lumber mill, a store and several small houses.

demand it." He also mentioned the devastating effect conscription would have on the country.

The Legion's call for total war is formulated by the Dominion executive council and sent to Prime Minister Mackenzie King last October was embodied in the re-drafted war effort resolution.

The call for total war asked for "immediate, complete and scientific mobilization, organization and utilization of all our resources—spiritual, intellectual, natural, financial, agricultural, industrial and manpower."

CLEAR MANDATE

The approved resolution also stated the convention is convinced that the people of Canada have by clear and unequivocal mandate, as expressed in the recent plebiscite vote, emphatically demanded the government to carry out a total war effort, and

"The putting into effect immediately of all necessary compulsory measures, including conscription of our manpower for overseas service."

The convention also instructed all commands and branches to use all constitutional means to promote the full and complete implementation of the Legion's call for total war.

Delegates also unanimously approved a motion demanding the federal government take steps necessary to limit the profits of industry and to eliminate "all" excess profits.

REHABILITATION PLAN

The Legion's rehabilitation plans ask for modification of the Veterans' Land Settlement Act now before the house of commons and urges adoption now of suggested public works including:

Slum clearance, reforestation and forest and soil conservation, with settlement of marginal land; highway construction; electrification of country areas.

A recommendation that the federal government take steps in conjunction with the provincial and municipal authorities toward the rectification of regional unemployment throughout the Dominion also is made.

The report urges a survey be made to determine whether more industries for western provinces would be economically feasible.

"Such steps are essential to the increase and maintenance of the population in western provinces, where the establishment of light industries in rural agricultural areas would provide employment to sons and daughters in farming communities," it said.

ADDITIONAL POINTS

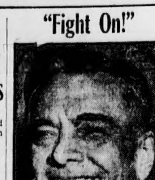

Other points in the report urged:

That provision be made in the Civilian Employment Reinstatement Act for first preference to those who served in the active forces in cases where industry or business has, of necessity, reduced its employment personnel.

That a discharged man be given "out-of-work" benefits between the date he secures employment and the day he receives his first pay cheque.

That the Legion demand an "overall" preference in the matter of employment for honorably discharged ex-service men and women, providing the individuals qualify to fill the positions.

More Canadian Reinforcements Reach Britain

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT, May 27—(CP)—Added hits for the Allied blitz machine in the husky shapes of Canadian soldiers and airmen were shipped out of this harbor recently en route to battle stations in Britain. Safe arrival of the convoy was announced yesterday.

As miscellaneous a group of fighting men as ever sailed out of this harbor, the small movement was composed mainly of army reinforcements and airmen but scattered among them were auxiliary officers, revenge-minded Poles a few Czechs, several navy fliers, the odd American and a group of German prisoners.

Quietest of the bunch were the prisoners. Interned in Britain at the outbreak of war and sent to Canadian camps after the fall of France, these Germans were part of the group, who, for good behavior, have earned the chance to return to England and help repair air raid damage.

Just a deck above them were Germany's deadliest enemies—a fight-crazy group of American-Polish youths who had flocked to the banner of the homeland they have never seen. Descendants of Poles who migrated to the United States some 30 or 40 years ago, they had all the vindictiveness that is making native Poles such fearsome fighters overseas.

Australia Will Enlist 318,000 More This Year

By J. D. HOLDSWORTH

CANBERRA, May 27.— (CP)— The cabinet announced yesterday that by the end of this year an additional 318,000 men and women will be required to reinforce Australia's armed forces and work in the munitions, shipbuilding and aircraft programs.

A decision to overhaul the manpower situation was agreed upon after consultation with the ministers for the fighting and supply services.

The large commitments, it was decided, can be attained only by a great increase in the employment of women in work ordinarily done by men, and by a large scale reduction in the output of civilian goods and services.

The total requirements of 318,000 extra persons did not include additional labor required by private munitions-making firms.

Prime Minister Curtin said the repair and maintenance of existing ships and aircraft would take precedence over new construction.

DEPENDENT OF GERMAN COAL AND STEEL

Shortage Of Labor, Materials Hits Italian Industries

Richard G. Massock, the author of this story on Italian war production, is the former chief of bureau of the Associated Press in Rome. He is on his way home after five months' internment.—EDITOR.

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK

Company reports for the last year nevertheless show the general rhythm of industrial activity to be still fairly high, thanks to supplies of raw materials from Germany.

Just how many planes, tanks, ships, guns and other armaments are being produced in Italy is of course, a military secret. But qualified observers say they cannot be many, at least in comparison with Germany's output. The Axis production of arms combined furthermore falls far short of the United Nations.

An indication of how little Italian factories are able to produce under their handicaps is the estimate shipyards are turning out an average of fewer than five submarines a month.

Italian production is dependent almost entirely on supplies of coal and steel from Germany. While the Nazi ally is keeping Italian factories busy, Berlin probably finds it more economical to build arms nearer home, in Germany itself and in occupied France.

A marked deficiency of labor particularly in the skilled trades, is reported in Italy. Germany has borrowed some 300,000 Italian workers. Many thousand more are among perhaps 2,000,000 men under arms.

CONSCRIPTS LABOR

Mussolini now is seeking labor for his factories under the decree of Feb. 26 which authorized conscription of all male workers between the ages of 15 and 55. Women are not yet subject to the call for work in factories beyond the numbers already employed there, but it was hinted their turn would come later.

An unexpected deficiency of water power has seriously crippled Italy's war industries.

The current shortage has been felt all the more because of the coal shortage, which led to a 70-per cent curtailment in allotments for heating and prevented plants from making up the water power shortage with thermal power.

HOUSE APPROVES APPROPRIATION

Government Expenses One Month Total $19,952,241

Procedure Of Delaying Supply Bill Is Rapped Sharply By Opposition

OTTAWA, May 27.—(CP)—Following 2½ hours of sharp debate, Finance Minister Ilsley yesterday received House of Commons approval for a sum of $19,952,241 to meet ordinary expenses of the government for one month after May 31.

In the face of criticism from opposition benches, Mr. Ilsley's request for $20,904,482 — two months' supply— was cut to an amount sufficient to carry government outlays for only one month. The supply granted for one month represents one-twelfth of the government's estimate of the amount required for the fiscal year 1942-43.

Conservative House leader Hanson, supported by M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. house leader, protested that the continued granting of part of the total meant the main supply bill would not be reached until July when the members are anxious to get home.

Members made frequent reference to the growing length of the session and the time spent on debate.

N.R.M.A. MEASURE

Under the orders of the day at the opening of the house, Mr. Hanson asked Prime Minister Mackenzie King when he proposed to move second reading of a bill to amend the National Resources Mobilization Act. The amendment would empower the government to impose conscription for overseas service by order-in-council.

Mr. King said the house had discussed the war appropriation bill for more than a month and he hoped it would be able to complete its work on this measure in the present week and proceed to the N.R.M.A. measure next week.

"If we are to get through at all before autumn I think we should begin very soon to make more rapid headway than has been done up to the present time," Mr. King said.

Mr. Ilsley, speaking in support of his resolution for a supply grant of $20,904,482, said a somewhat smaller amount voted would expire at the end of May and provision had to be made for payment of the public service and other obligations of the government.

IMPROPER PROCEDURE

Mr. Hanson contended that "putting off" voting of supply until the dying days of the session was not the proper procedure. He was aware that if interim supply were not granted some people, including members of parliament, would have to go without their salaries.

"Well," said Mr. Hanson, "it would not hurt h-im-able members if they had to go without them a little while if we could be brought to a realization of the true function and position of parliament."

Members should have full opportunity to debate the estimates for supply in detail early in the session, Mr. Coldwell said that other Houses throughout the Empire had adjusted their procedure so as to make such full discussion possible, by setting certain periods aside for discussion of certain subjects.

Resources Minister Crerar said a large portion of government's expenditures, as represented in the estimates, was for statutory requirements such as interest, old age pensions and assistance to veterans of the First Great War.

Mr. Ilsley said that valid criticism of estimates was "wholesome," but he thought the Conservative opposition had started to perform its duty in an "imperfect way." He appreciated suggestions, but they were few.

MORE CONCERN

"I wish all members would show more concern over public expenditures than they do," the finance minister said.

"We cannot get through any faster unless there is less discussion," he said.

1—The enemies of the Axis have been forced to divide their fleets over all the oceans . . . while Germany, Italy and Japan are each fighting on an inner line.

(The statement thus opens with an obvious truth, about which there can be no dispute. The reader is being encouraged to give credence to what follows.)

2—In order to combat the sea menace, the United States is forced to let a part of its armament industry construct defensive measures against submarines."

(Part truth, part fiction. How "large a part?" The enemy is trying to belittle United States production capacity, which is German wishful thinking.)

3—Not more than 900,000 tons of new U.S. merchant shipping has been built since December and five times this tonnage has been sunk by the three Allied powers since Dec. 8.

(A lie on both counts. The American shipbuilding program for this year calls for 8,000,000 tons. It will not only be reached but probably exceeded.)

(Tonnage sunk all over the world during the whole of 1919, the peak of the German unrestricted submarine campaign in the last war, was 5,639,000. For the entire four years of war, the total was 11,189,000 tons.

(A British United Press survey shows 225 Allied or neutral ships sunk in American waters since the start of the present submarine campaign. In 1917, the average tonnage of ships sunk was 2,137. If the same figure were applied, the sinkings this year would total 480,632 tons. Even allowing a higher average tonnage and sinkings in other oceans, the figure would be far short of the German claim of 4,500,000.)

4—Since the United States entered the war the enemy losses in warships and merchantmen have shown a rising tendency.

(Naturally true.)

5—The enemy's tonnage has become without doubt a decisive one . . . England and the United States cannot solve this problem, which will be further intensified by a uniform naval war offensive of the nations of the three-power pact on all oceans from day to day."

(This is a crass lie. It was first uttered last January by Hitler, since then the enemy already has everything in his power to attack United Nations shipping.)

Petition For Removal Of Westglen Teacher Heard By School Board

Petition advocating the removal of Miss M. B. Munro from the teaching staff of the Westglen High school, and signed by 25 parents of students attending the school, was submitted to the Tuesday night meeting of the management and health committee of the Edmonton Public School Board.

The petition stated "the parents of pupils in Westglen High School, in the interest of the pupils in the school, suggest the removal of Miss M. B. Munro . . . The majority of pupils, if not tutored, fail in French . . . It is not the case with other subjects."

Decision was reached that a recommendation be made by the principal of the school, to the superintendent of schools, and a second recommendation by the superintendent to the board, be requested, in order that settlement be reached at the next meeting of the board.

A delegation of six of the 25 petitioners attended the meeting and spoke. Miss Munro and J. G. Niddrie, principal of the school, also attended and addressed the board.

REPORT ON WORK

At the request of the superintendent of schools, F. S. Sheppard, a report on the work of Miss Munro was presented by the school principal. The report said in part: "Dr. L. E. Westman, assistant director of national selective service, told the conference that the country now is entering an era of mobilization of manpower.

"We are going from money and materials to human resources," he said.

OTHER FIGURES

Records of dismissals from class, presented by Mr. Niddrie show that 32 students had been dismissed from class by Miss Munro since the first of the year for "talking, whistling, making noises, chewing gum, talking, etc."

Asked by Trustee Louis D. Hyndman, K.C., how that compared with dismissal by other teachers, the principal replied that other dismissals numbered from none to 20.

Trustees McConachie and Sutherland both requested recommendations from the principal and the superintendent to the board and Trustee Cotterell concurred with the requests.

3 Problems Bar Oil Project In Tar Sands Area

CALGARY, May 27.— (CP) — Three major problems will have to be overcome before Alberta's tar sands can be made a source of oil, Floyd Beach, M.E.I.C., of the Alberta Petroleum and Natural Gas Conservation Board told a service club here yesterday.

First problem to be met is the mining of the sands, second is the separation of the oil and sand, and finally methods of refining the product for use commercially, Mr. Beach said.

That separation of the oil and sand can be accomplished only after the materials have been mined has been proven by a number of unsuccessful experiments, Mr. Beach declared. As an example of the type of experiments used, the speaker told how one party had drilled two holes hoping by forcing hot air down one hole to drive the oil out the other.

SEPARATION PLANTS

It is also necessary that separation plan a be erected close to the deposits of the tar sands to be economical, he stated.

Chunks of the tar sands put into dump cars or on flat cars and hauled a long distance to the separation plant allows the material to regain its original mass state and requires that it be broken up again. For this reason the liner from the mine to the plant must be short, Mr. Beach stated.

After separation the oil is too thick to be piped in its natural state to a refining plant but dilution by the use of distillates have proven successful to allow piping.

The final stage, refining, presents the major difficulty to make the tar sands useful commercially, but experiments being conducted are bringing the process steadily closer to an economically sound basis, he declared.

A.R.P., Salvage Work Principal Municipal Tasks

By BOB FRANCIS

OTTAWA, May 27—(CP)— Mayor Walter A. Merrill, of Westmount, Que., told the annual conference of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities yesterday that establishment of air raid precautions organizations and the efficient collection of salvage are the two most important functions of municipalities at present.

"Their (the municipalities') most important function is to see to the complete and efficient organization of their air raid precautions," he said. "Wardens must be trained and the co-operation of all available services assured for an emergency.

"The greatest obstacle facing authorities in this respect is the sense of security and apathy prevailing in Canada simply because the country never has been subjected to a blitz.

"If an emergency comes here it is no answer from municipal authorities that it was unexpected or that they were not warned."

Mayor Andrew McGuvin of Victoria acted as chairman of the meeting.

Earlier, under chairmanship of Mayor J. W. Cornett of Vancouver, L. E. Westman, assistant director of national selective service, told the conference that the country now is entering an era of mobilization of manpower.

"We are going from money and materials to human resources," he said.

The situation which arose with the new move was far more complex and difficult to handle than anything previously.

QUEBEC WARNED

Canada Must Be Free To Wage War Anywhere For Victory Legion Meet Told

WINNIPEG, May 27.—(CP)—Maj.-Gen. L. R. LaFleche, assistant deputy minister of the department of national war services, told the biennial convention of the Canadian Legion yesterday that Canada must be free to wage war anywhere for victory. He said "we must proceed as one," using caution and wisdom and exercising a charitable understanding with one another.

He said he told French Canadians 15 months ago that their duty was total war. "It becomes greater as the enemy encroaches upon land which has been held by our side and which we will have to retain," he said.

The matter of conscription for overseas service must be approached with the desire to understand the other man, said the former president of the Canadian Legion's Dominion command. "He will come if you speak to him the right way," Gen. LaFleche said.

EQUAL SACRIFICE

"In the interest of my own race, conscription if it were brought in must be equality of sacrifice and benefit arising from sacrifice." He added the question of conscription for overseas requires careful study in the light of policies made by the armed forces and by other departments of the government.

These policies, he said were the supply of food, particularly to the British Empire, and the United States with arms and munitions.

"My mind separates this problem of conscription into subheadings," he said. "First the practical one of necessity from the country's point of view. I think all Canada should think carefully on that without passion.

"The other sub-heading of conscription in my mind is that it has become nearly a pathological disease in the minds of a few people who spread the contagion wherever they go."

OVERSEAS FORCE

"We are leaving the government of this country in authority to decide what shall be the number of divisions overseas or the number of men to be sent over," he said.

"We all hope no one will overcommit the country because in that case we would possibly fail to live up to our undertaking and for that one reason only.

"I would not want any part of this country to force such a matter upon another part of the country. But I do say it is in the interest of each part to accept conscription, but to demand it."

Gen. LaFleche paid tribute to the young men in Canada for their willingness to come forward. Mobilization under the national war services has run smoothly and successfully everywhere, he said, adding that more men had enrolled in military services in Quebec than in any other province.

Discussion on an amendment suggesting that the words "avowed anarchist," and "avowed Communist" be deleted from a section stating no person advocating destruction of the government of Canada by force may be permitted to become or remain a member of the Legion was deferred until today.

TORY CHIEF OPPOSES BILL

Amendment Alberta Resources Debated In House Of Commons

OTTAWA, May 27.—(CP)—A bill amending the Alberta Natural Resources Act, before the House of Commons last night, was termed by Conservative House Leader Hanson a measure which would, if passed, represent a breach of trust with original leaseholders in oil-producing areas in Alberta.

The house reported progress on the bill and may resume debate on it today. The bill, covering an agreement on oil-lease royalty rates being entered into by the province and leaseholders, was introduced by Resources Minister Crerar who said it would bring about stability in the industry and assist the oil development now being sought.

Mr. Crerar said a majority of leaseholders in the main oil-producing areas of Alberta had approved of the agreement which had later been approved by the Alberta legislature almost unanimously.

When the night sitting began, the house was in committee considering a bill to amend the Evidence Act to permit banks and similar institutions to use microfilm in keeping a record of documents. It would permit them to destroy the bulky originals.

BILL APPROVED

The house approved the Evidence Act bill in committee and put it down for third reading at the next sitting.

When the house turned to the Alberta bill, Mr. Hanson said the Dominion should consider the position of leaseholders affected by the proposed amendment to the Alberta Resources Act.

"Not one of these companies can afford to come out in the open and fight this legislation because of fear of the wrath to come," Mr. Hanson said. "They look to this parliament to see they are given fair play."

Resources Minister Crerar introduced the bill, which was debated on second reading. He said the province had raised the royalty rate on Dominion leases to bring it into line with the rate on provincial leases and the legality of this action had been questioned.

AVOID LITIGATION

To avoid litigation which would delay production and to fix for a definite period of years the royalty which would have to be paid on both Dominion and provincial leases, an agreement had been reached by the provincial government with "a large number" of owners of provincial and Dominion leases representing the majority of those actively engaged in drilling operations.

Mr. Crerar said the owners had agreed to withdraw their objections to the Act being amended, provided that the royalty on all wells in the Turner Valley field that were producing or bounced prior to May 31, 1941, would be fixed for all time at 10 per cent and that the royalty on all other leases, both Dominion and provincial, would be fixed until June 1, 1951, at a graduated rate with a minimum of five per cent and a maximum of 15 per cent, the owner having the right to elect to pay 12½ per cent.

Mr. Crerar said it was considered that ratification of the agreement would bring stability in the oil industry in Alberta, and a result it was expected more funds would be available for new oil developments.

If the bill failed to pass there would be a period of uncertainty and consequent lack of development at a time when such development was desired. The mines and resources department oil exploration parties were to be active in Alberta, with one party in Saskatchewan.

Mr. Hanson said: "This seems to me a strange piece of legislation."

PROTEST RIGHTS

He had received information from various parties in protecting the contractual rights of companies and they looked to the Dominion to protect those rights. Much money which had been invested in oil development had been lost. The companies were fully entitled to protection.

Under the natural resources agreement by which the province received its resources from the Dominion in 1930, Alberta had received "generous treatment," Mr. Hanson said.

He urged that Mr. Crerar should withdraw the bill.

Manley Edwards (Lib., Calgary West) said an order-in-council was passed in 1920 to guarantee and fix oil royalties for all time to encourage prospecting and development in the oil fields. All development since that time had been on the basis of that assurance to the leaseholders.

The Alberta government had violated the agreement a year ago by a legislative act which it decided not to enforce when some big companies had refused to pay increased royalties.

The province then obtained an agreement with some of the companies to the increased royalties as outlined in the bill, and to support the bill's passage through parliament, but, Mr. Edwards said, they agreed not because they thought it fair and just but because they wanted the protection of the federal government.

He objected to the retroactive clause in the bill making part of the agreement so far as royalties were concerned, to May 31, 1941.

The Alberta legislation raising the royalties had not been proceeded with, and Mr. Edwards said the Alberta attorney-general was Premier William Aberhart who had no legal training.

Alfred Bence (Con., Saskatoon City) asked the minister what reasons the oil controller (G. R. Cottrelle) had given for believing that passage of the bill would increase oil production. He also asked the minister if he had obtained any assurance from the justice department that the bill was constitutionally sound.

OPPOSE ALBERTA

Rev. E. G. Hansell (N.D., Macleod) said it was "a strange thing" that a bill could not be discussed without questioning the character and ability of a government duly elected by the people. He referred to Mr. Edwards as typical of those who were "vehemently opposed to the Alberta government."

The Social Credit government had been returned by the people, particularly those in the oil well centres but "apparently the member for Calgary West does not regard the will of the people of Alberta as being of any account."

It was apparent the government thought the bill to be in the best interests of the country and the Democracy supported it, said Mr. Hansell.

Mr. Crerar, closing the debate, said there was no question of the power of the provincial and federal parliaments, by concurrent legislation to amend the lease contracts.

The leases contained an understanding that they would be subject to change from time to time as to terms and regulations.

Mr. Bence interrupted to suggest that it was to end the uncertainty contained in these clauses that the order-in-council was passed in 1920 fixing the royalties for all time.

Mr. Crerar said the royalties were not fixed for all time because the leases still contained the clause empowering the federal government to make changes.

HAMPER DEVELOPMENT

The alternative to the agreement was lengthy legal action which would hamper development. There was no discrimination and the stability sought would assist the industry. When the majority of active leaseholders, with the Alberta government, had asked for the agreement, the Dominion should agree.

There seemed to be a doubt in the minds of some as to how the Alberta government might act, or fear that the Alberta government might not act as other governments, but there was not a province outside the prairie provinces without full control of its natural resources.

"I have no hesitation in recommending the legislation and I do not think any party will be injured," Mr. Crerar said.

George Ross (Lib. Calgary East) said the bill should be referred to one of the house standing committees so that witnesses for interested parties could be heard.

BREAK LEASES

He had heard there were 700 leases whose contracts would be broken by the province if the bill were passed.

If it were necessary for the war effort the contracts could be broken and the owners compensated. If a ceiling were placed on royalties it would result in stability for the industry for the period of the war and this might be the proper way to meet the situation.

Mr. Ross said he would like to have the oil controller appear before a house committee and give his views on the Alberta situation.

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. house leader, said that when the resources were returned to the provinces they should have been returned completely "without strings attached."

There were so many instances of resources held by private interests, the government should be considering how best to employ these resources for the good of the country instead of discussing royalties.

Alienation of resources to private interests should cease. The committee reported progress on the bill.

But still a father is called on to make provision for his family should anything happen to him. Without funds to carry on, their lot would be unnecessarily difficult in the years to follow. Let a Great-West Life man help you work out a plan now to safeguard your own family.

The Festival

From the large audience and closeness of competitions apparent at the opening day, the seventh Edmonton district music festival will fully maintain the standard of its predecessors. There are more than 300 entries and inclusive of choirs and choruses, more than 2,000 individuals will be taking part. Headed by Dr. J. Frederic Staton, one of Great Britain's most distinguished musicians, the judges insure contestants receiving not only fair and impartial adjudications, but helpful advice as well.

It is encouraging that in these days of emotional and mental stress, the committee in charge felt there was sufficient popular interest to warrant the festival being continued. It must be a matter of satisfaction that the number of entries has justified the decision. Music is more than a luxury at any time; it is a necessity. It is more essential than ever these days.

The Turn Of The Season

Rain on the first and favorite summer holiday has seldom been so welcome hereabouts as it was on Monday. Of all those whose outings were interfered with it is doubtful if anyone complained. We needed rain, needed it badly. Gardens and crops were suffering. Forest fires were getting more numerous and more serious. The air was filled with smoke and dust. Sidewalks and pavements in the city were coated with dirt. Every car that ran along an unpaved street sent up clouds of dust.

All those conditions were changed overnight. The streets are now clean, the air is clean, lawns, gardens and fields are already showing new life. Hitherto it has been spring mainly because the calendar said so; now it is a reality. The growing time has come, for rain at this date usually introduces the famous June weather of interspersed showers and sunshine which together work the "miracle" of fast-growing crops upon which a western harvest depends.

The Human Factor

There is plenty of sugar in the world, plenty of tea, and plenty of coffee. But not in this part of the world. They have to be brought to Canada in ships—ships which are needed to carry war supplies to the fighting fronts. The ships are manned by sailors who risk their lives every hour they spend at sea, since enemy submarines lurk along the sugar, tea and coffee routes.

When Canadians are now called upon to get along with a half pound of sugar each week, with only half the amount of tea per head we have been using, and with three-quarters of the amount of coffee. The point to remember is that these new restrictions are not merely economic measures designed to prevent the unbalancing of international exchange. They do not aim solely to conserve tonnage for war purposes. Beyond these considerations, both valid, is the fact that brave men must challenge death every hour they spend bringing a cargo of sugar, tea or coffee to a Canadian port.

To put the matter on the personal basis where it belongs; suppose your "boy" was on one of those ships, or was now engaged convoying them through the submarine zone —would you obey the regulations and cut down consumption as required?

Barvenkova

The furious counter-attack the Nazi high command has staged in the sector south of Kharkov may or may not be the commencement of the planned big offensive Berlin has been predicting for several months. It probably is. If it is not, it shows that the Russian command picked out too vital a point in the enemy's line, and used the attack too vigorously to be longer met with only defensive operations.

Whether or not that is where Hitler intended to strike, he has had to strike there, for once the Russians reached the Dneiper his whole far-flung eastward forces would be threatened. The fighting, which extends over a 200-mile front with hundreds of thousands of men engaged, may shape the course of the whole summer's campaign. If the Russian forces could be decisively beaten, the way would be open for another drive toward the Caucasus. If they cannot be beaten, the Baku oil fields will be as far as ever beyond the Fuehrer's reach.

The outcome may not be known for weeks, but at least the Russians have a better chance to hold their ground than they had last summer. Their reserves of manpower are ample, while the German troops have been heavily diluted with contingents from subject states whose fighting power is not equally dependable. And the Red army is said to have now an even footing as regards equipment, which it had not a year ago.

However the battle may go, it is on so vast a scale that the enemy reserves will have to be thrown into the fray in great numbers, at the expense of weakening the supports of the occupation forces from France to Norway. The more furious the fighting in the east, the better the chances will be for landing Allied forces somewhere on the continent and establishing a second front.

Nova Scotia and New Brunswick have been told why their gasoline ration has been cut to two gallons per unit. So many tankers have been sunk that the naval ships on that coast had to lie in harbour for ten days waiting for fuel. So great is the scarcity that all the tankers and tank cars available have been pressed into service, but they are not carrying gasoline for joy-riders. They are carrying heavy oil for the navy.

V.

Alberta coal produced in the first two months of this year was worth 25 per cent more than the output for the first two months of last year. Since the bulk of the trade was restricted to the prairie area this improvement in the position of the industry does not represent a clear gain to the general business of this province. But if, as seems probable, the Ontario demand is keen during the coming fall, the proceeds will represent a gain not only to the operators and miners but to the amount of purchasing power put into circulation in Alberta. This is an added reason why Alberta users should lay in their winter supply early and leave the mines free to fill all the Ontario orders they can get.

Teaching Profession Should Attract Finest Minds

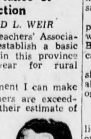

Salaries Should Be Equal to Importance of Function

By HAROLD L. WEIR

The Alberta Teachers' Association wishes to establish a basic teaching salary in this province of $1,000 a year for rural teachers.

The only comment I can make is that the teachers are exceedingly modest in their estimate of what their profession is worth to the community.

The fact is that a good teacher is worth an incalculable amount to a district. No salary could be too high for a well-trained man or woman who is capable of making the proper impressions of the minds of children.

Harold L. Weir

Conversely, the poor teacher is not only worth nothing at all, but may constitute a positive drawback to the effective development of young intellects.

That is why the salary question is such a pertinent and important one. The teacher who is worth paying at all, is worth much more than any maximum salary that exists at present.

It might not be economically possible to pay good teachers what they are actually worth. But we should pay them all we can.

Their salaries, in other words, should only be limited by the ability of the city or municipality or province to pay.

Responsibility

I am not among those who believe that either school teachers or church teachers can adequately play the part in the training of the child that should be assumed by parents in the home.

The home or the family is properly the basis of all those influences which form the child's mind and character. And the child who is deprived of a wholesome and broadening family influence is deprived of a very great deal indeed.

It is not enough that parents should send their children to public school so that their little minds may be saved from ignorance and to Sunday school so that their little souls may be saved from perdition.

Nevertheless, a lamentably large number of parents assume that this is enough, that if they ship their offspring off to school and Sunday school faithfully enough, they have done their complete duty.

The schools must face these facts. If parents refuse to recognize their entire duty, the schools must assume it as best they can.

That is why the character and training of a teacher have taken on added importance as the age of preoccupied parents has advanced.

The responsibility of the modern school teacher has become tremendous. The teacher not only imparts knowledge and forms minds and shapes character, but frequently is the most potent source of inspiration with which the child comes in contact.

What salary can adequately pay for services like these?

Best Minds

It is obvious, then, that the finest minds in the community should be attracted into educational work. Only one standard should be permitted for teachers—the best.

The man or the woman who drifts into teaching merely because the other professions are too difficult or too crowded or because more remunerative jobs are hard to get, is a positive menace to the young.

The teaching profession is the most important profession in modern life. It is infinitely more vital than any of the other professions because it is more basic.

Through a teacher, for instance, the child learns the importance of keeping well. A physician, although such is not the ideal condition, only gets a chance to exercise his skill after the individual is ill.

Through a teacher, a child can learn how to keep out of trouble. A lawyer can only get him out of trouble after he is in it.

Education is the hope of democracy. And the hope of democracy should rest on something more substantial than a scale of salaries that just slips by the attention of the minimum wage law.

While the schools contain many devoted men and women who stick to their jobs because they love them and not for what they make out of them, in the ordinary nature of things, you cannot draw the finest minds into a profession which is notoriously poorly paid.

Nor can even the good teacher do himself justice if he is forced to scrape and pinch and worry about his subsistence.

Preparation

In the legal and medical professions, income is very properly based on experience and preparation. It costs a great deal to educate a good doctor or a good lawyer.

Essentially it costs quite as much to educate a good teacher. If the preparation for teaching is not as thorough and extensive as it is for pleading lawsuits and cutting out appendices, there is something wrong with the educational system.

A surgeon is probably entitled to a fee of $150 for removing an appendix. But there is a sorrowful discrepancy between that fee and the $1,000 a year the teacher gets for shaping little minds and forming little characters for the serious business of living intelligently and well.

The teaching profession should attract the finest minds. To the many fine minds it does attract, the salaries paid are an affront. The many fine minds that are kept out or driven out of the teaching profession, naturally enough by the meagreness of salaries, is a distinct loss to the childhood of the nation.

And, naturally, we must be prepared to pay for it.

Looking Backward

From The Bulletin Files

1892 — 50 Years Ago

May 24 was celebrated in very good style in Edmonton. The sweepstakes trap shooting matches of the Edmonton Gun Club were begun, the following being the aggregate scores in the three matches: F. Hardisty, 5; F. Sache, 7; J. Brown, 8; C. D. T. Belcher, 6; Inspector Chalmers, 8; W. S. Robertson, 6; J. Looby, 3; L. Kelly, 8; H. Cooper, 10; R. Hardisty, 4; and A. Coghlan, 8.

The baseball match between married and single teams resulted in a draw, 13 to 13. In the footrace, Mossman took first in both the 100 and the 220-yard races, with L. Tarrant second. The lacrosse match was won by Hardisty's team, 3 to 2, against Watts' team.

No records were broken in the horse races, but the contests were keen enough to sustain interest.

A postal card from Sand Point, Washington, gives the information that Jack Hogan, late of Ft. Saskatchewan, an ex-policeman, was killed with eight other men in a railway accident near Kalispell. Hogan was well known in Edmonton, having been in the police force at Fort Saskatchewan for several years.

1902 — 40 Years Ago

J. M. Peacock came in last night from Star, after being four days on the trail which is almost impassable.

A train left Strathcona this morning though it is doubtful how far it will be able to proceed, as the train which should have left Calgary was cancelled on account of the flooded track.

It is estimated that seven thousand logs have drifted past the bridge over the river. The loss will be divided between the mills.

Returning Officer Fane of Beaver Lake had to ride around the lake on horseback, on account of the high water, to bring in the ballot boxes.

A Mounted Police party who went to Star to investigate the finding of a body, spent 17 hours driving through twelve miles of mud.

1912 — 30 Years Ago

Ottawa: The wives of two Sikhs, who were detained at Vancouver because they had violated the immigration law, will be allowed to remain in Canada.

Ottawa: The Government has a proposal from Mr. Marconi to establish wireless stations throughout the far northern and western parts of Canada.

Ottawa: The Government has reversed the judgment of the Railway Commission in respect to the location of the G.T.P. station at Hazelton, B.C.

1922 — 20 Years Ago

Belfast: Tonight has been a night of fires in Belfast. A dozen had been reported up to midnight. It is reported that the model school was destroyed, being set on fire with incendiary bombs. The Falls Road library was set on fire during the night, and to add to the worries of the authorities, there was plenty of shooting in various sections of the city.

Paris: The committee of international bankers has served notice on Germany that further consideration of a billion dollars loan to the German government is out of the question unless the inflation of currency is stopped.

1932 — 10 Years Ago

The provincial minister of lands and mines says fires started by settlers last year got out of hand and burned 32,000,000 board feet of timber and 400,000 cords of wood, sweeping over 263,000 acres.

The battle over contentious clause 9 of the city relief form—which informs applicants that they will be held responsible for relief money received by them—was ended when the city council decided to delete the clause and to print on the reverse of the relief form the wording of the Town Act which deals with the refunding of relief money by applicants.

'Der Henker' In Paris

In happier days spring in Paris was the season of beauty and joy, of unfolding blossoms and gay flower markets. This year is marked by the arrival of Reinhard Heydrich, "Der Henker," and the dark unfolding of crepe in memory of murdered hostages.

Evidently enough innocent blood has not been spilled in France. The firing squads have not broken the grim French will to resist "collaboration." So Heydrich, "The Hangman," is sent for to show France what a real German blood bath means. He comes well equipped for his work. Behind him in Czechoslovakia he leaves no fewer than 500 murdered victims. Fifty Frenchmen died to celebrate his arrival in Paris. But his cold wrath is implacable. Because of his criminal efficiency, Hitler has elevated him to his present post of honor as vice-commander of the Gestapo. No doubt in France he will rise even higher on greater hecatombs of martyrs.—New York Times.

Scientifically Brilliant, Socially Blind

Science Invents But Fails to Apply Knowledge Realistically

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

What stands out in ever more glaring relief is the gap between scientific accomplishments and imagination regarding the uses to which they are put. The greatest star in the crown of Twentieth Century capitalism is its creation of our industry. The greatest blot on it is its recurrent failure to put the public interest, necessity and welfare in the foreground of its thinking and planning. It has technological foresight out of all proportion to its social foresight. And it doesn't even act economically. It acts commercially.

Dorothy Thompson

The essence of economics is to create what we need. The essence of commercialism is to sell it at a profitable money price.

Gasoline

We need gasoline. Except for food, it is the most critical material of our life. The oil companies produce it out of our American earth, and sell it in quantities. On this production they have made immense profits. And they are proud that they produce an essential American war material.

Their directors are men of wide international knowledge. Presumably they could foresee the likelihood of this war and that the production of oil and its distribution to every community in America would be a leading problem. Yet they have not prepared for this. Accustomed to transport coastwise by tankers, finding this the cheapest means, and having a large investment in such tankers, they closed their minds shut against the obvious fact that if we were engaged in war coastwise trade would be endangered by submarines.

Mr. Ickes pointed this out a long time ago, but the big companies don't like Mr. Ickes and apparently are unwilling to weigh the reasonability of any propositions emanating from him.

Neither is the government free from this commercial and trading concept. The government did not force the issue. So now its business is to exhort us to sacrifice.

The American people will sacrifice anything, including their lives. But they intensely dislike making sacrifices because of the lack of foresight of either industries or government.

Now, we have the question of rubber. It, too, is an indispensable commodity for the war and our domestic life. We have been accustomed to using crude rubber, imported from the East Indies.

Our relations with Japan had been worsening steadily for five years. Presumably, in case of war, the East Indies were in danger. Ample foresight was needed, on the part of industry and government to prepare a substitute.

But immense investments in crude rubber were threatened in case a chemical substitute should be developed in a vast way.

The history of chemical substitutes is that they eventually replace the natural product.

The argument against them is that they "cost too much." They start, however, by costing more and eventually cost less. Always. But the mind, concerned with investments and price, stops dead before the social or even economic reality.

Synthetics

Rubber can be made from oil. So the oil companies acquire patents for the manufacture of the synthetic product. Whether they acquire them from the I. G. Farben Industrie — the German firm—and on what terms of mutual confidence is beside the point of this article. They acquire. If anybody is going to enter this new industry, it's going to be us.

Mind you, they have got their hands full as it is. They haven't even solved the problem of the internal distribution of gasoline. But there is a chance to make money, so they get $600,000,000 more from the R.F.C. to put up synthetic rubber plants.

Just why the people of the United States should finance enormously rich corporations to manufacture a product for which the people themselves are a certain market is beyond the range of my financial thinking.

Price of Time

And how long will it take to make this rubber, after this delay? Two years at least. Maybe three.

And what's the price of time? Our life as a nation.

And must rubber be made from oil? No.

For months leading chemists of both Britain and America have called attention to the fact that rubber can be made from something that we, the people, own in vast quantities: grain.

We own tens of millions of tons of wheat stored in Mr. Wallace's ever-normal granary. And, say these chemists, this grain can be turned into rubber in from four to twelve months and even without creating new factories, if the American people will go without whisky and give us the distilleries.

This isn't a new prohibition movement; it's a necessity of war.

Too Expensive

What are the arguments against it? "Grain is too expensive."

Listen, this grain costs exactly zero. It is worthless unless used. "Shortage of copper for adjustments in distilleries?" But I am told we can use silver, and silver we have in immense quantities. "Too expensive?"

Listen, the cost of the silver to the American people is also zero. We bought it. We own it, and unless silver is worthless. And, anyhow, we will still have it.

I don't know whether we have enough gold to build a pipeline from Texas, but if we have that would be a good way to use it. It's no good buried in ingots in Kentucky. Here's a job of rebuilding in another form.

If we are going to survive this epoch we have got to do imaginative thinking. And stop letting people whose brains have grown dull on monopoly do it for us.

Britain's Steel Tires

FROM THE BRITISH INDUSTRIES BULLETIN

Thirty thousand farm vehicles, wanted by British farmers for this year's harvest, will be delivered in time, thanks to two new standard wheel patterns.

Agricultural engineers in Britain were faced with two shortages—of materials for making pneumatic tires for tractor trailers and carts, and of seasoned timber and skilled wheelwright labor for making the old-fashioned wooden cart wheel.

So the engineers have evolved an all-steel wheel three feet in diameter with a minimum tire width of six inches. To absorb the shock formerly taken by the pneumatic tire there are two coil springs between the axle bed and rights.

On trials over heavy clay land, with the wheels frequently up to the axles in mud, an effort of 500 lbs. per a ton load was needed, compared with 300 for pneumatic tires. A road test with two tons over a seven-mile trip at 10 and then 16 m.p.h. showed the rubberless trailers to be quite as good as those with pneumatic tires.

Believed to be the foundation of cheaper and more efficient farm working in peacetime, these new designs with their standard interchangeable parts and 33 1-3 per cent saving in cost, have been given to the world by the British Agricultural Engineers' Association free of all patent and license rights.

"Here's Where I'Get Blamed Again!"

"Wind Storm Is Over"

Thinks Quebec Hotheads Now Ready To Cool Off on Conscription

By CAMILLE L'HEUREUX
IN LE DROIT

Is it a gust of wind which will shake the leaves, or is it rain or is it something more serious? That is the question which we ask ourselves after the first disturbance which the Liberalism caused by the resignation of the Hon. P. J. A. Cardin, as Minister of Public Works and Transport in the War Cabinet, in protest over the principle of compulsory military service which he saw in the amendment to national resources, mobilization act. The Liberal caucus held by the Liberal members yesterday, brought a reply to that question. Everything suggests that it is only a gust of wind, dropping as quickly as it rose. A complete calm prevails just now, at least on the surface. If the deeper strata of Liberal representation is still influenced by strong currents they do not cause a ripple on the surface. Liberal ministers and members beamed their most serene smiles yesterday afternoon at the opening of the session. A brilliant sunshine had dispersed the clouds.

The prime minister's ability as a strategist has been frequently remarked. Once more, Mr. King evidences his skilful leadership.

High Card

However grave the crisis unloosed by Mr. Cardin's resignation may have appeared, the prime minister's hand contained a card of high value. He knew that despite the plebiscite vote in Quebec, he still held the confidence of the Liberal members from that province, in that they preferred, whatever happens, having him at the head of the country, than any other prime minister, feeling certain of an inferior to him if ever he leaves. Mr. King based his strategy on this confidence and this dread. He gambled. He won the pot.

It was necessary to guard against a threatened breach in an important sector of the Liberal front. The prime minister obtained from the Liberal caucus a vote of "unlimited" confidence, to use the words of the resolution, "in spite of differences of opinion among us now in regard to certain questions of public interest." This resolution liquidates all threat of an immediate split. Mr. King holds around himself all his members from the province of Quebec, even if they are not all in agreement on the amendment to the National Resources Mobilization Act.

Scruples

Now, it remains to see in what manner some forty members, who vigorously endorsed Mr. Cardin's action, will contend themselves.

Mr. King obviously considers time in his favor. He will apparently not proceed to the second reading of the amendment of the National Resources Mobilization Act. The lapse of time may also be useful to reduce or appease the scruples or fears of the forty members who supported Mr. Cardin. Some will yield to the conviction that compulsory overseas service is not necessarily implied in the amendment of the Mobilization Act, as the prime minister maintains. Others will swing into line through fear of endangering Mr. King's position as head of the government and having another prime minister who would more quickly have recourse to compulsory overseas service. Time will reduce the number of those who intended to vote against the prime minister's bill.

Free to Vote

As to the others, if there remain any, not disposed to follow this lead, the government will leave them free to vote on the amendment as they see fit. Hence, those members, the attitude of whose constituents, or whose conscience, does not permit them to support the amendment, may vote against the amendment and thus satisfy their conscience or tend to conciliate their constituents.

One thing is certain, the dozen Liberal members, designated as "the dissenters" and who voted in the House against the holding of the plebiscite, will vote against the amendment to the Mobilization Act. This group of dissenters has studiously avoided any association with the incident created by the other Liberal members. As to those latter, it would take a divine prophet to foresee how many will vote against the amendment* to the Mobilization Act. The smaller their number the less will be our surprise; the wind storm is over.

Troops Learn Chinese

FROM THE BRITISH INDUSTRIES BULLETIN

British soldiers, sailors and airmen are learning to speak Chinese—by gramophone.

A big demand has grown up in the last few months for gramophone language courses, not only in Chinese but also in Russian. In many parts of the country men in the services have formed study groups to help them to learn French and German as well as Russian and Chinese. Policemen in Britain are forming groups to give themselves a knowledge of German and Russian.

The Friends' Ambulance Unit, which worked on the Burma Road has had courses in Chinese. Courses in Spanish have been sent out to U.S.A. for the air forces, and other U.S. forces are learning Russian.

A gramophone course in English is popular with sailors in the Norwegian and Dutch merchant services; and French Canadian soldiers are also using the gramophone record system. The Free Services of France, Norway, Czecho-Slovakia, Poland and Holland are about to learn to speak English in a gramophone course which is being recorded with the aid of BBC announcers.

Nine out of ten of the language courses now being produced in Britain are going to the services. The chief demand is for Russian, Chinese and German, although courses in Arabic, Hindustani and Japanese have been taken up by certain service personnel.

In the cafes of Budapest, Hungary, coffee now sells for 20 to 30 cents a cup, and retails for $3 a pound.

Alberta District News In Brief

Signaller Feted Farewell Party

NORTHVILLE—Folk of the Chip Lake district turned out en masse for a farewell party to Pte. Verdell Sherman, R.C.C.S., on the last night of the soldier's embarkation leave at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Sherman. The gathering was featured with a concert, the presentation of a purse to Pte. Sherman, and dancing for the remainder of the evening. The women brought box lunches.

Entertainment was provided by Mrs. J. Brouse, Misses Patricia and Josephine Rehn, Jimmy Evans, Steve Saltus, Leonard Rehn and Dave Motherwell.

Others present were: Mrs. L. Rehn, Mr. and Mrs. J. Brouse, Mr. and Mrs. B. Brouse, Albert Pederson, Jim Pederson, Mrs. Martin Pederson, Miss Emma Pedersen, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Mazarewich, Walter Mazarewich, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hart, Miss Alice Stone, Mr. and Mrs. Art Gordon, Mrs. M. Steer, Keith, George and Lawrence Steer, Mrs. E. Wood, Miss Nettie Hood, Mrs. Armstrong, Percy Evans, Mrs. Elton, Mrs. S. Cummings, Fred Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Bishop, Mrs. O. Freeberg, Miss Charlotte Freeberg, Miss Muriel MacKeven, Miss Lillian Vicary, Claude Shafer, Jim Brouse and Reggie Brouse.

With Those In Uniform

NORTHVILLE—Benny and David Stone of Chip Lake settlement joined up with the Canadian active army as word came that their cousin, Mervin Stone, had landed safely in Britain with a Canadian army contingent.

MORRIN—Pte. H. Gillsie, Provosts Corps, Calgary, is visiting with his family. He broke his ankle and will remain here until it has mended. Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Gillrie and daughter, Doreen, Didsbury, spent the weekend at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. A. Gillrie and Pte. Gillrie and Mrs. Gillrie.

WHITECOURT.—After several cancellations since last December, Lieut. H. C. Merrifield has been granted a furlough and has been visiting his home here. He is a veteran of the First Great War and enlisted about a year ago in the Veterinary Unit as a private. He was reinstated to his former rank of lieutenant about two months ago.

V.V.R.'s And Boy Commandos In Training With Wooden Weapons

They're Practicing To Stop Japs

By JIM GILROY

NORTHVILLE.—Nelson saved Britain with iron men and wooden ships. And history is repeating itself, for now it's a case of iron men and wooden guns practicing to stop Jap invaders in these here parts, where every prospect pleases and only men are wild.

At any rate, Walter J. Kirkeskov, old soldier and a member of the Northville V.V.R. squad, and a genius the craftsman of the wood, has made at his own expense half a dozen wooden guns for the joint use of the V.V.R.'s and their auxiliaries, the Alberta Boy Commandos. Some of the V.V.R.'s only have .22's for shooting and arms drill, and some of the boys, being under 14, are debarred from totin' shootin' irons, which is against all western traditions.

Mr. Kirkeskov's models, with the aid of some paint and metal polish, look very much like the real thing. They only have one defect—Betsy don't go boom when you pull the trigger.

Some of the veterans are hoping that the powers-that-be will issue them with small arms soon. This would help them to fight more effectively if the Japs came, they claim.

Baseball Tournament Features Victoria Day Sports At Mercoal

MERCOAL—Featuring a baseball tournament, races and athletic events, the annual Victoria Day sports were held at the local sports field at the week-end. One of the largest crowds in the history of the Coal Branch was in attendance to enjoy the program.

Mountain Park carried off top honors in the baseball tournament by defeating Mercoal in the finals. Cadomin were defeated in the opening game by Mercoal. The Kaplyn cup, donated by John Kaplyn, popular hotelman here, also goes to the winners of the tournament by virtue of their win.

A string orchestra under the direction of John Varadi entertained with selections. Bingo and hot dog stands did a brisk business all day.

OPENING GAME

In the opening game of the baseball tournament, Mercoal, with steady pitching by Leonard Tweed, defeated the heavy-hitting Cadomin squad by a score of 10-8. Jimmy Gerlitz with two home runs, Melnyk, Dietz and Dions with a brace of hits each were leading hitters for Cadomin. Art Molyneaux with a double and single, and Brooks, Foss, Tweed, Armstrong and McIntyre did the hitting for Mercoal.

Behind two-hit pitching by Mike Petruik, Mountain Park defeated Mercoal by a score of 14-2. Petruik also hit a home run, a double and two singles to lead Mountain Park's attack. Bill Green and Ronnie had three hits. Cheesa, Dotto, Choman and Lancaster also collected a pair of hits in the assault on three Mercoal pitchers. Tweed and Flanagan collected the only two hits off the stocky right-hander. Tweed started on the mound for Mercoal, being relieved by Molyneaux in the third inning. McIntyre finished the game.

Northville Is Being Honored By A Churchill

NORTHVILLE.—Innocent travellers on the Jasper highway might have thought this little lumbering hamlet was festooned with flags in honor of Empire Day. Maybe so, but your correspondent prefers to believe that the flags are flying in honor of the arrival of a Churchill in this locality, which puts Northville only a few "Churchills" behind London—Hull's London, Eng.—in population.

The Churchill in question is Mrs. D. S. Churchill, who is staying at the home of her brother, Mr. Cox, and is also visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Kenneth O. Gobie and Mrs. Gobie. Mr. Churchill, a veteran of the First Great War, is back on service with the Calgary Highlanders. Two of Mr. Gobie's brothers are also overseas with the fighting men of Canada.

More Than 50 Tons Of Salvage Metal Shipped From Red Deer

RED DEER—Since the Red Deer salvage committee started operations, considerable quantities of salvage have been collected in the city and district. Funds derived will be distributed to the different school districts in proportion to the amount collected and Red Deer city's share will go to some local war organization.

To date about 104,455 pounds of cast iron and steel have been shipped to Calgary. Several tons more are awaiting shipment. The committee pays a reduced trucking rate on the salvage to Calgary, allowing it to be hauled at the convenience of the truckers. This practice saves two handlings of the material.

About five tons of paper has been shipped in co-operation with the Innisfail salvage authorities. Seven hundred pounds of tala were also delivered in co-operation with the Calgary committee.

Shipping instructions are being awaited on a car of rubber which has been collected throughout the district. The Boy Scouts brought in more than a ton of rubber in a canvas of the city. Goodyear Bros. at the Imperial service station, got an old timer in the tire line, one that dated back to 1912. It was brought in by Merle Sage Red Deer district farmer.

OTHER SALVAGE

Also awaiting shipment are several tons of paper, a quantity of brass, aluminum, copper and lead.

Girl Guides have collected a large number of cardboard boxes which will be used by various organizations for shipping parcels overseas to boys in the armed forces.

Mrs. W. L. McBride, of McBride's Taxi, has been collecting lead paper and tin foil and has made many large shipments. Members of the Red Deer detachment of the Alberta Women's Service Corps collect rags in the city which are turned over to the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps Training Centre here and the R.A.F. at Penhold for use in the shops.

A sub-regional office of the War Time Prices and Trade Board has been opened in the Metropolitan Block on Gaetz avenue with Fred A. Dowler in charge. The office will serve the Central Alberta area, and will have charge of tire and oil rationing, price ceiling and transport. It is probable that some inspectors will be attached to the office.

Dr. H. L. Nix, who has practiced medicine here for the past 13 years, has joined the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps and has left for Trenton, Ont., to attend the Medical Training Centre there. Mrs. Nix and the family will remain in Red Deer for the present. Dr. Nix has been a public-spirited citizen during his residence here and has taken an active part in the life of the community. He has given valuable service to Leonard Gaetz Memorial United church and was one of the chief workers in the establishment of the Red Deer Co-operative store. Dr. C. Elizabeth Mahaffy, daughter of Judge J. J. Mahaffy, Red Deer, has arrived and will continue the Nix practice during his absence on active service.

HANNA.—Several famous champion cowboys, including Herman and Nig Linder of Carbon, Alberta, are expected to take part in the rodeo here June 6. Blood Indians from the Gleichen reserve will attend in full native regalia. Corrals are being built in the fair grounds under the supervision of Arthur Galarneau, manager of the rodeo. . . . Mrs. Edward Fischer of Calgary, who has been visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Neubaur, received word that her husband who works in a creamery in Calgary, had scalded his leg when washing cans. She left at once for the city.

Optimists Hear International President At Installation

Declaring that the tragedy of Pearl Harbor some day will be revealed as the greatest blessing in disguise ever to befall America, Eldon S. Dummit of Lexington, Kentucky, president of Optimist International, addressed members of the Edmonton Optimist club at a special installation banquet at the Corona hotel Tuesday night.

President Dummit was guest of honor and main speaker. He also participated in the official installation in office of the 1942-43 executive members of the Edmonton club. Those installed were Dr. W. E. Webber, president; Louis Laflèche (boys' work), Edward Brice (civic welfare), B. C. Aylen and Henry Runte, vice-presidents; J. M. Verge, treasurer; R. J. Cornwell, secretary, and I. R. Hignett, sergeant-at-arms.

"The seventh day of December, 1941, was the day when all uncertainty vanished and a unified democracy triumphantly embraced the joys of sacrifice, the pride of effort and the courage of peril, Mr. Dummit stated.

RUTHLESS PATTERN

He stated that the treacherous attack was not just an attack by a single nation but is a part and parcel of a ruthless world-wide pattern of conquest. It means that the democratic way of life cherished here and the totalitarian way of life proclaimed by the Axis leaders, cannot live together anywhere in the same world, he said.

He declared that the present war will be won by the parties maintaining the most uninterrupted supply lines between their productive plants and their fighting forces.

The strategy of the Nazi invasion of Russia was to divide and destroy through pincer method and blitzkrieg, to limit Russian sources of supply of grain, oil and other essential war materials, he stated.

For the same reason Japan threw overwhelming forces into the Malayan campaign and into the battle of the Indies, he stated.

TOUGH JOB

The United States' failure to adequately fortify its Pacific holdings has already given the enemy control of strategic key points and has made the job of supplying Australia with much needed war materials a tough one, he declared.

The international president stated that the saddest people in the world today are the citizens of Free France in whom a look of shame and gloom has replaced the smile and pride that once enlivened the face of the Frenchmen. Defeatism prevailed over optimism and the democracy of France died from within before it was dissected upon the operating table of war.

In England it was not so. Instead of revenge having a demoralizing effect upon the populace, all of their latent powers of resistance were quickened and steeled for the conquest, he stated.

UNTIL VICTORY ATTAINED

"American productivity will not only maintain the arsenal of democracy, but American ingenuity and bravery will keep our supply lines open until victory is attained," Mr. Dummit declared.

"Hitlerhikers and parasites on our body politic must be eradicated. Eternal service instead of eternal vigilance must be the price paid for liberty; group selfishness will have to go whether group be industry, labor or a farm bloc. Churches, schools, luncheon clubs and civic groups will of necessity have to be mediums of supply through which our youth may enter into fruitful endeavors conducive to a happy America of tomorrow," Mr. Dummit declared.

Persons enjoying some financial or political advantage who care not to make sacrifices in conflicts with privilege, and thus impede the progress of utilization of all resources for defence purposes are guilty of a sabotage and fifth columnist activity as is the humble employee who throws gravel in the gears of a machine, he stated.

"The supply lines must be kept open for our future democracy and it is the hope that Optimist clubs of America will meet the changing conditions in this land and dedicate their energies toward keeping open the supply lines for the democracies of tomorrow," Mr. Dummit stated in conclusion.

Deadline For Clearance Of Weeds June 30

City council Tuesday evening set June 30 as the deadline for property owners to clear off noxious weeds from their property.

If the land is not cleaned off by that date the city engineer's department may take all steps to eradicate these noxious weeds and charge for the work against the property.

Noxious weeds are described as Canada thistle, perennial sow thistle, stinkweed, tumblin mustard and common wild mustard.

Teacher From Alberta Will Go Overseas

Request from the National Council of Mental Hygiene for one teacher from the province to go to England to teach with the London County Council "for two years or for the duration," was reviewed by the Edmonton Public School Board at its meeting Tuesday night.

Supt. of Schools Ross S. Sheppard reported that these applications from city teachers had been received for the position, which would involve teaching as well as special duties of a war-time nature, and that the applications would be submitted to the provincial department of education for final approval. Only one teacher from each province is required.

A.R.P. MEETING

The superintendent also reported that a meeting of the principals of the elementary and intermediate schools, relative to proposed Air Raid Precautions instruction in the school commencing with the fall term, would be held in the next week.

Relative to the proposed "alert" to be held in the city on Sunday, June 21, it was decided to advise the chief air raid warden that steps be taken to clarify the question of school trustees acting as air raid wardens during the "alert". It was pointed out that the schools will be used as emergency centres on the occasion, and that caretakers and teachers will be expected to be on hand, but that at the same time a number of them would have other duties as A.R.P. wardens.

LEAVES GRANTED

Leaves of absence for military service were granted to W. McLean, teacher, and Alex. Forbes, caretaker. Extended leave of absence was granted to Miss Edith Kern, on grounds of ill-health, and to Miss Alva Sparling for post-graduate work at Columbia university. Resignations were accepted from Miss Norma Thomson, who will be married shortly, and Miss M. G. Elderkin, now resident in Vancouver.

¼Pursuant to a new regulation of the federal unemployment commission that permanent employees of school boards are not subject to unemployment insurance, Secretary-Treasurer H. G. Turner was authorized to sign an application, on behalf of the board, for reimbursement of funds paid the commission.

Request for transference of 35 pupils from West Jasper Place school to Glenora were referred to the finance committee. The request came from the West Jasper Place school district.

BONUS REQUEST

Also referred to the finance committee was a request for cost-of-living bonus for the operating engineers, similar to that paid to employees of the city works department.

Recommendation of the management and health committee of transference of 24 teachers from the temporary to the permanent staff and the continuance of 29 teachers on substitute contracts was approved.

Chairman A. E. Ottewell presided.

Ban Placed On Milk Delivery Before 7 A.M.

A bylaw prohibiting the use of city streets between the hours of midnight and 7 a.m. for the retail delivery of milk was passed by the Edmonton city council at its meeting Tuesday evening.

The bylaw was passed at the request of members of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters and Chauffeurs, Local No. 514, and will be in effect for the war duration.

NO OPPOSITION

There was no opposition voiced against the bylaw, but F. J. Reynolds, general manager, Edmonton City Dairy, pointed out certain disadvantages to the consumer which would result from the later delivery hours imposed by the measure.

He said that when this matter was previously before council, his company had voiced opposition to it. "I am not taking that position tonight," he stated, "and if council sees fit to pass the bylaw, the company will adapt its delivery system to the new conditions, and is now working out the details for doing so.

"We do not believe this is a good move," Mr. Reynolds told council, "either from the standpoint of the employees actually doing the delivery, or, perhaps more important, of the public."

He said that a canvass of the E.C.D. staff showed the delivery men were strongly unanimously in favor of starting out from the plant prior to 7 a.m. in the summertime, and would rather start delivering at 5 a.m. and get most of their deliveries completed before the heat of the day comes. This did not apply to winter delivery, he added.

DO BETTER JOB

"The men on our staff believe they can do a better job, with more satisfaction to their customers, if they get through their delivering before noon. After noon many housewives are out shopping, or away on other business, and the men do not actually see them," continued Mr. Reynolds.

Dealing with the consumer angle, Mr. Reynolds stated that "the best figures we are able to obtain indicate that something less than 40 per cent of the homes in Edmonton are equipped with refrigeration, whether electric or ice. Of the remaining 60 per cent, some of course have cool basements, but many have not, and for such homes it is a matter of great difficulty to keep milk in good condition, especially if it has been hauled about the heat of the day, perhaps to be delivered and left on the doorstep due to the absence of the housewife. It is doubtful if people living in apartments, with no refrigeration and no basement, can have good milk for three meals of the day if they get delivery in the afternoon."

Austin Grant, retail salesmanager, Woodland Dairy, said that the 7 a.m. starting time had been adhered to by his company, and it had been found extremely satisfactory. Calls back had been practically eliminated. No objection to the early delivery was that milk had to be left on doorsteps as few patrons were up when the milk man called. He said that as a result of the later delivery hour route men were able to complete their deliveries in one hour less working time.

EFFECTIVE JUNE 1

Council passed the bylaw without discussion. Its provisions will be effective on and after Monday, June 1. This date is set to enable dairies to make the necessary arrangements to meet the change-over caused by the bylaw.

SAFETY DRIVE IS ON

Mayor Inaugurates Drive On Unsafe Vehicles

Mayor John W. Fry is shown herewith, purchasing official safety sticker No. 1, thus inaugurating the city-wide campaign to eliminate from Edmonton streets, cars and trucks operating with unsafe brakes, lights, horns, windshield wipers. The drive is being sponsored by the city police department. His Worship was snapped as he signed the form accompanying each sticker, giving evidence of the safe condition of all four safety features. Placing the No. 1 sticker on the inside of the windshield of the mayoral car, is William Walker, the car's driver. With the sticker in place, the police know this vehicle has been approved for safe driving. "If every driver of a safe car or truck will do the same, and have his vehicle officially labelled in this way, it will be a simple matter for police to test the rest, and we have their assurance that this year a complete inspection of all machines operating on Edmonton streets will be carried out."

Thorough Inspection Will Be Given To All Sections Of Machines

Police are giving the drivers of safe cars and trucks 10 days in which they can have their vehicles tested and approved at their own garages and service stations. Passed as safe by a recognized garage, they will be able to display one of the official safety stickers being issued by the police department to help in identifying safe vehicles.

All other cars and trucks will be put through a rigid inspection of lights, horns and windshield wipers as well as brakes in an all-out effort to drive the unsafe machine completely off the streets of Edmonton, according to an announcement made Wednesday.

Aimed at making sure that every car and truck operating on the streets of Edmonton is in a safe condition as far as brakes, lights, windshield wipers and horns are concerned, the City Police Department is joining with the drivers of safe vehicles to wage the biggest war on traffic mishaps ever conducted in this city, according to officials.

Determined to start their war on traffic accidents and damage to irreplaceable property at the bottom with the actual mechanical condition of the city's motor vehicles, police are planning to see that every vehicle is inspected voluntarily by recognized garages or service stations, or compulsorily by the police, within the next few weeks.

HOW TO DO IT

So that they can help in every way possible to make this big job easier and help to protect their tires and vital parts from the menace of dangerous machines, the drivers of safe cars and safe trucks are being given a ten-day period, starting this date during which they may have their vehicles inspected at their own garages or service stations and labelled with the official safety stickers that show police they are assisting in cutting down the economic waste of accidents, injuries and deaths on the home front.

"The machine that is in an unsafe condition mechanically constitutes one of the greatest menaces to the safety of other cars and pedestrians, and we are appealing to every safe-car or safe-truck owner in this city to co-operate with us in this campaign by buying one of the official safety stickers, and contributing in this way to the success of this all-out effort," declared Chief Constable A. G. Shute, in explaining the campaign.

"If every car and truck with safe equipment is labelled with one of the safety stickers it will be an easy matter for police to single out the unsafe vehicles and take action against them under provisions of the Vehicles and Highway Traffic Act," he said.

Leading garages and service stations throughout the city are co-operating and, during the ten-day truce from now until June 6, will test brakes, lights, windshield wipers and horns free of charge, issuing the official windshield stickers to cars and trucks found to be in a safe condition.

For every five seconds elapsing between a lightning flash and the resultant thunder, the strike is one mile away.

Accidents Cause Economic Drain

The direct economic losses resulting from traffic accidents in the United States during 1940 were estimated by the statistical bureau of the National Safety Council at $1,800,000,000, or approximately $1,333.33 for every accident.

This estimated loss included wages lost, medical expenses, overhead costs of insurance and property damage from motor vehicles.

If the same figures apply as far as Edmonton is concerned, and there is no reason to believe otherwise, the economic loss to this community at a time when every cent is needed to prosecute the war is particularly serious, it was pointed out by H. S. Reynolds, accountant of the City Police Department.

World's Record For Medley Relay

NEW YORK, May 27.—(AP)—New York University's distance medley relay team Tuesday shattered the world record for that event by romping the mile and seven-eights in 7:18.8. The old mark of 7:25.4 was set by a New York Athletic Club foursome in September, 1925.

Leslie MacMitchell, famous miler, did his stint in 4:16.6 and Bill Hulse clipped off his half-mile chore in 1:50.7. Frank Carter contributed a :49.8 quarter mile and Dave Lawyer a :42.7 furlong.

Country Areas Are Included Safety Drive

Decision has been made to include garages and service stations at rural points in the vicinity of Edmonton in the present safety drive, and in this connection the following statement was issued Wednesday by Chief Constable A. G. Shute:

"Many cars and trucks owned in towns and rural points in the Edmonton area are operated in the city from time to time. The person best qualified to pass on the safe condition of these is the man who repairs them and keeps them in order.

"Because of this we decided to issue the official safety stickers and forms to qualified garages and service stations outside the city that are willing to abide by the police regulations laid down in connection with the campaign.

"Country garages are advised to address their applications for stickers to the Police Accountant, Room 103, Police Building, Edmonton. The stickers must be ordered in books of not less than 25 stickers, and each order must be accompanied by a money order or a cheque, including exchange, for the full amount of the order at twenty-five cents for each sticker. Refunds of the full purchase price for any unused stickers on hand at the conclusion of the campaign will be made, and purchasers will be notified of the date, time and place for this purpose."

Brakes Approved

This is a black and white reproduction of the red, white and blue colored windshield stickers that drivers of safe cars and trucks may obtain from co-operating garages or service stations during the next ten days before the city-wide police check-up of motor vehicles failing to display the official safety stickers is commenced.

Back of each sticker reads as follows: "This is to certify that the motor vehicle bearing this official safety sticker, No. E123456, was inspected by a garage or service station recognized by the Edmonton City Police Department and approved safe on May 26, 1942, and the owner or operator, John Doe, is helping police eliminate unsafe vehicles that constitute a menace to life and to property that cannot now be replaced, thus assisting in overcoming the economic waste of traffic accidents on the home front at a time when every cent is needed to win the war. Signed, A. G. Shute, Chief Constable, Edmonton City Police."

RIGHT AWAY he rotates your tires, inspects them carefully inside and out, checks valve cores and caps, checks tubes for weak spots and leaks, scrapes tires free of rust, paints them and treats rim-well with graphite. He paints all tires, inflates them to proper pressure.

EVERY WEEK he checks the inflation of your tires with an accurate hand gauge. At the average tire loses about two pounds of air a week it is essential that he check your tires regularly every week!

EVERY MONTH he jacks up your car and examines the outside of your tires. He removes nails, bits of glass, imbedded gravel or grit. He checks for signs of faulty wheel alignment, improperly adjusted brakes.

EVERY 3 MONTHS he paints your tires with a special tire paint. At the same time he replaces valve caps when needed and checks valve insides and, if necessary, replaces them.

EVERY 6 MONTHS he removes tires from rims and thoroughly inspects them. He searches for cuts or bruises that may develop trouble. He checks tubes for weak spots. Scrapes rims, paints them, treats rim-well with graphite.

TWICE A YEAR he rotates your tires according to a scientific plan, reversing the direction of tire rotation. This can increase tread mileage up to 25%. The policy also includes three tube repairs during the year.

BONUS BENEFITS: one free road service call, one free major vulcanized sectional tire repair, or two free vulcanized spot repairs, the free registration of all your tire serial numbers.

WHAT THIS PLAN MEANS TO YOU

When you sign up for the Tire Life Extension Plan you receive a policy that covers the servicing of your tires and tubes, including certain repairs, for 12 months.

By carrying out the tested conservation methods in the plan without fail, and by observing simple tire-saving habits you'll get more mileage from your tires than you ever thought was in them.

In a nutshell . . . a small amount monthly invested in your tires may mean a year . . . 2 years . . . or even more extra use of your car. Every day you delay you throw mileage away!

BIG PUSH IS ON

Police Chief Seeks Eliminate Unsafe Cars From Streets

Explains Plan Inspect Every Motor Vehicle's Brakes, Lights, Horns

Declaring that he wants every unsafe automotive vehicle eliminated from Edmonton streets, Chief Constable A. G. Shute on Wednesday announced a plan for the inspection of the brakes, lights, windshield wipers and horns of all city cars. His statement was made in connection with the all-out safety drive which is about to be launched here.

Chief Constable Shute pointed out that the restrictions on motor driving, through the rationing of tires and gasoline, tended to keep such traffic within the city confines and thus it was becoming more congested.

This, he declared, increased the need for care and for safety and for this reason, it was more essential than ever before, that brakes, lights and horns should be in good repair.

"As a result of gasoline and tire rationing that eliminate long trips for non-essential trucks and cars, automotive traffic is tending to become more congested within the city limits of Edmonton," said Chief Constable Shute.

"The utmost importance of preserving rubber, metals and other materials that go into the manufacture of or repair of cars and trucks, and which cannot be replaced at this time, is becoming greater.

SOME ARE UNSAFE

"Under these conditions motor vehicles being operated on the streets of Edmonton in an unsafe condition are constituting a more serious menace than ever before to both life and property, and every traffic accident creates an unnecessary economic waste.

"Faced with these facts, the Mayor and Commissioners of the City of Edmonton have authorized me to conduct a brake-testing and safety campaign on the largest scale ever attempted in this area.

"For the purpose of this campaign, qualified garages and service stations are being appointed official testing centres, where the owners and operators of safe motor vehicles may obtain official safety stickers, recognized by the police, for their windshields.

HAVE INSTRUCTIONS

"Garages and service stations have their instructions from the police department, along with proper forms that must be filled out and signed by driver and garage both, and when they test and approve the safety features on any motor vehicle they guarantee to us that that vehicle is safe to operate on Edmonton streets this summer.

"With that kind of assistance from the garages and the safe-car and safe-truck owners we can ignore the safe, 'stickered' vehicles and concentrate our efforts on the 'stickerless' unsafe machines, sure that among their number will be found the real traffic offenders from a purely mechanical standpoint.

MAKES WORK EASIER

"Every safe-car operator who puts one of the official stickers on his windshield is making the work of the police just that much easier. He is helping to narrow down the search for the unsafe machine and pointing the finger of suspicion at the driver of the unsafe vehicle just as surely as if he had haled him into police court.

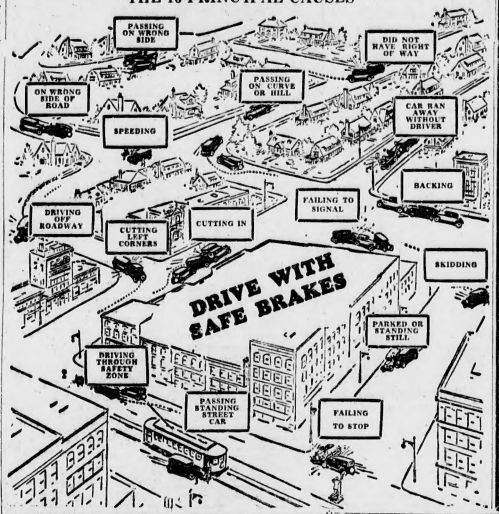

"With this kind of co-operation from safe-car and safe-truck owners we will undoubtedly be able to rid the streets of unsafe machines within a few weeks," Chief Shute concluded.

Cyclists' Don'ts By City Police

1. Don't ride on the wrong side of the road. This is the most frequent cause of accidents.
2. Don't ride without proper lights. Bicycles must have a head lamp and a tail light or reflector.
3. Don't dodge between cars in moving traffic but remain in the line of traffic.
4. Don't ignore stop signs or traffic lights. The same rules apply for cyclists as for motorists.
5. Ride no more than two abreast.
6. Don't hang on to trucks, street cars or cars.
7. Don't ride on sidewalks.

Over Forty Thousand Fatalities And One Million People Injured Due To Automobile Accidents In Canada And United States LAST YEAR

THE 16 PRINCIPAL CAUSES

BRAKES...

The safety of you and your car depends on your brakes every minute you are on the road. Let us help you drive safely . . . and remember, your brakes must be properly equalized all around if you are to get the last driving mile out of your present tires. You will drive safer and save your tires with Good Brakes.

...STEERING

There is nothing that will wear out your tires quicker than front wheels out of alignment. The alignment of your car wheels should be checked periodically to ensure safe driving and economy of rubber. Our modern equipment for this particular job is your guarantee of perfect work.

MOTOR TUNE UP...

Fuel economy . . . peppy performance . . . and tip-top running condition . . . that's what your car will give after we have given it a factory-approved Motor Tune-Up. We invite you to drive your car in regularly for a check-up to ensure continuous "top-notch" performance.

Keep your car on the road for the duration . . . physically fit so that you can drive safely, safely and economically.

Japan Colonists Will Be Sent To Conquered Areas

TOKYO (From Japanese Broadcasts), May 27. — (AP) — A large-scale program to send Japanese colonists, specialists and workers into the conquered territories of the southwest Pacific "to facilitate the development of natural resources" was announced by the government yesterday after a cabinet session.

Put Safety Sticker Front Windshield

As the official stickers being issued by police through recognized garages and service stations in the present all-out safety drive are primarily for the purpose of easily identifying safe cars and trucks so that police will not have to waste time inspecting them, it is important that these labels be placed on the front windshield where they may be readily observed by traffic officers, officials pointed out, Wednesday.

Travel Restricted

LONDON, May 27.—(CP)—It was announced Tuesday by Prime Minister Curtin of Australia that travel will be restricted on all state-owned railways, the British Broadcasting Corporation reported. Priorities will be issued to those on important business or engaged in war work, the BBC said.

THE CITY OF EDMONTON

"The Gateway To The North"

May 27, 1942.

An Open Letter to the Drivers of Edmonton's Motor Vehicles

Ten days from today, Saturday, June 6, the police force is planning the commencement of a systematic inspection of the brakes, lights, windshield wipers and horns of all motor vehicles operating on the streets of this city.

Between now and that time, the drivers of safe cars and trucks may have them tested at their own service stations or garages and labelled with official stickers that will indicate to police the safe condition of their vehicles. These stickers are being sold at twenty-five cents each only by garages and service stations recognized by the Edmonton City Police Department.

At this time when every traffic accident creates an unnecessary economic waste, we are asking every car and truck driver to co-operate with us. With the full co-operation of the drivers of every safe motor vehicle we can drive the unsafe machine off the streets at this time.

(Signed)
A. G. SHUTE,

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, May 27.—(AP)—The motors sparked a modest buying revival in stocks today and many leaders pushed up fractions to around 2 points. Advances predominated in the final hour in steels, rubbers, aircrafts, coppers and industrial specialties and even the carrier stocks bestirred themselves near the end.

Routine Trading On Grain Market

WINNIPEG, May 27—(CP)—Routine mill demand characterized business on the Winnipeg grain exchange today. Wheat futures closed ⅛ higher to unchanged with May at 79½b cents a bushel and July at 80⅜a.

Only a few minor purchases attributed to Canadian and United States mills were uncovered and the wheat pit was practically deserted. Light offerings aided May wheat futures to advance ⅛ cent but July remained unchanged. There was no export in wheat or flour.

Survivors Say 4 Ships Of Convoy Are Sunk May 12

BOSTON, May 27. — (AP) — Forty-six survivors of a medium-sized British merchant-man, who were rescued and brought to a North Atlantic port by a United States coast guard escort vessel, revealed today that their ship was one of four torpedoed from a west-bound convoy on the night of May 12.

The men reported that at dusk the following day their rescue vessel attacked with shellfire and depth charges two submarines found on the surface charging their batteries. They offered no opinion of the results.

U-Boat Believed Sunk Off Brazil By U.S. Warship

RIO DE JANEIRO, May 27—(AP)—An unconfirmed report from Recife today said a United States warship, answering the call for help on May 18 of the Brazilian freighter Commandante Lyra, chased the undersea attacker and is believed to have sunk it.

This was the third enemy submarine reported sunk in waters of Brazil in nine days. American bombers sank one U-boat near Fernando Noronha, but 125 miles off Brazil's northeast coast last Friday, the pilots declared, and another was reported sent to the bottom yesterday off Recife.

Mixed Farming Is Rapidly Increasing

Extension of mixed farming in northern Alberta area is disclosed in annual reports of district agriculturists which were made to the provincial department of agriculture last year.

More farmers fed low-quality grain to cattle, and the dairy industry also showed expansion.

The "district ags" also have drawn attention to the growing noxious weed menace in the north country and urged the need of action.

Early Delivery Of Coal Orders Is Advocated

The coal trade has been urged again this year to get behind the efforts of the coal administrator and the producing mines to have the public take delivery of their coal during the summer. It is appreciated that the stocking of western Canadian domestic coals during the summer season is a new departure and is one that will possibly meet with some resistance from many coal users.

However the situation is serious and the fact remains that if the user does not take delivery of the coal during the summer months then he may be left without coal when he needs it in the fall and winter season.

Although most western domestic coal will lose moisture and depreciate to some extent when exposed to the sun and wind in the coal dealer's yard, it is equally well recognized that western domestic coal can be very satisfactorily stored in the consumer's basement for many months.

BASEMENTS COOL.

Basements are sufficiently cool and retain enough moisture during the summer months to provide ideal storage bins for domestic coal. Coal stored in a basement is not subjected to the heat of the sun and the dry heat as is coal stored in a covered or uncovered shed.

It has been suggested that during May, June, and July the retail coal dealer makes it a point to have the customer take delivery of the coal. From August on the retailer can then start building up his own stocks and the coal will store satisfactorily in the sheds until the usual buying rush in the fall.

To sum it up, it should be emphasized that:

(1) Coal must be mined and transported during the summer months.

(2) Coal should be stored in the customer's bin not the dealer's sheds, during the months of May, June and July.

(3) The dealer must start building up his own stocks during the month of August.

West Bird Flies To South America

The long-distance flight of a young blue-winged teal from the prairies of western Canada to South America is revealed by a recent bird-banding recovery record received by the department of mines and resources. This duck, marked with an official numbered leg band near Langruth, Manitoba, during Sept. 1940, flew about 3,500 miles to Coyaima, Colombia, South America, where it was shot in March, 1941.

The short but interesting history of this wild duck illustrates the value of marking birds with official numbered bands. Once a bird is banded it assumes an individuality which makes possible the tracing of its migration routes and the recording of its life history. The information collected in this manner is used in the administration and framing of bird protection laws to conserve and perpetuate the various specie.

Because birds are international, the work of banding them is conducted in full co-operation between the Canadian and United States governments, and to a certain extent with Newfoundland, Mexico, and South American countries.

Game Areas

The national parks in the Canadian Rockies are game-conservation areas. From these, game overflows in such adjacent numbers to the hunting grounds, many reached in from one to two days from Banff, that hunters can pitch camp and without moving get their full bags of moose, elk, sheep, goat, deer, and bear.

Many guides and outfitters have headquarters in Banff. Further information can be sceured from Secretary, Banff national park board of trade.

Farm Products Reflect Gains In Price Levels

Reflecting increased production as well as some improvement in farm prices, the gross value of agricultural production in Canada in 1941 showed an increase of nine per cent over that of 1940. The 1941 figure of $1,379,386,000 is the highest recorded since 1929.

The most important increases in values in 1941 occurred in farm animals and dairy products. The value of field crops, on the other hand, was lower in 1941 because of serious declines in Saskatchewan and Alberta where grain production was drastically curtailed by drought.

An estimate of the current value of farm capital, including land and buildings, machinery and livestock, provides a total of $4,689,656,000 for the year 1941. Some increase in the value of land per acre, combined with a sharp increase in the numbers of livestock on farms, resulted in an increase of approximately 200 million dollars in the value of farm capital as compared with that of 1940.

GROSS VALUE

The gross value of commodities produced on Canadian farms by provinces, in order of magnitude follow, with the 1940 values in the brackets: Ontario, $460,935,000 ($380,342,000); Quebec, $264,322,000 ($217,323,000); Saskatchewan, $194,205,000 ($233,948,000); Alberta, $192,720,000 ($209,784,000); Manitoba, $131,197,000 ($102,751,000); British Columbia, $48,265,000 ($44,081,000); New Brunswick, $37,705,000 ($33,204,000); Nova Scotia, $34,201,000 ($29,128,000); Prince Edward Island, $15,836,000 ($14,551,000).

RELIEF MEASURES URGENTLY NEEDED

Council Asked To Take Action In Housing Situation

Here Friday

Defence Minister J. L. Ralston, C.M.G., D.S.O., will pay a brief visit to Edmonton Friday evening, where he will confer with military officials at the Prince of Wales Armory.

Ralston Coming Here On Friday For Conference

Col. J. L. Ralston, C.M.G., D.S.O., Minister of National Defence, will pay a brief visit to Edmonton on Friday evening of this week, holding a short conference with Active and Reserve Army officers at the Prince of Wales Armory, it was learned Wednesday from Lt.-Col. E. Brown, M.M., E.D., area commandant.

Col. Ralston will arrive here early Friday evening from Camrose and Red Deer, where he will inspect military establishments earlier in the day.

At the armory he will meet officers of the active and reserve armies and officers from the University of Alberta Contingent of the Canadian Officers' Training Corps.

Early Saturday the defence minister leaves by plane for Grande Prairie to conduct an inspection of the basic training centres.

HARVEY ALSO COMING

Brig. F. M. W. Harvey, V.C., M.C., General Officer Commanding Military District 13, will travel with the Ralston party to Edmonton.

With the Minister of National Defence are: Brig. E. G. Weeks, M.C., M.M., Brig. J. D. Young, Col. J. C. Currie and Col. D. M. Lambert, all of Ottawa.

The exact time of Col. Ralston's arrival here has not yet been ascertained.

Fatal Accident Has Sequel In Supreme Court

Charged with manslaughter and dangerous driving, John B. M. Griffith, Edmonton, went on trial in supreme court Wednesday before Mr. Justice G. B. O'Connor and a jury.

The charges arose out of an accident on Kingsway at the junction of 118 avenue, on February 27 last, in which Tony Senyk received injuries from which he died six days later.

J. W. McClung, K.C., is prosecuting, with A. W. Miller, K.C., and G. W. Auxier acting for the accused.

The following jurymen were sworn to try the case: Ian C. Ramsay, Frank E. Alloway, Thomas Blasdera, Daniel J. Cochlan, Joseph B Neher, all of Edmonton, and A. Robert Corbett, North Edmonton.

DRIVING NORTH

It was disclosed in evidence that the accused was driving northwest and turned out to pass a truck, failing to make the turn off Kingsway into 118 avenue and collided with the guard rails at the level crossing. The deceased was thrown from the car and received several broken ribs, a broken collarbone and severe head injuries.

Jack Lewis, truck driver, operator of the vehicle the accused was passing when the accident occurred, was on the witness stand at the noon adjournment.

Oil Development Is Discussed At Conference Here

Oil development work in Alberta and investments in oil properties are reported to have been discussed when G. F. Beer, Toronto, representing the Ontario Securities Commission, held a conference Wednesday with G. M. Blackstock, K.C., public utilities commissioner for Alberta. Mr. Blackstock had no statement to make Wednesday on the conference.

Mr. Beer plans to visit Calgary later this week.

Family Here

Wife and small daughter of Squadron Leader Robert Clare Bisset, D.F.C., above, brilliant R.C.A.F. officer, who was reported missing last December, have arrived in Edmonton from Britain. They plan to remain here for the duration of the war. Sqdn. Ldr. Bisset, D.F.C., is the son of Ald. A. Bisset, Edmonton lawyer.

Widow Of City Airman Arrives From Overseas

Mrs. Robert C. Bisset, Englishborn wife of squadron Leader Robert Clare Bisset, D.F.C., former well known Edmonton resident, reported missing in air operations over enemy territory last December, has arrived here from Britain.

Mrs. Bisset and her small daughter, Vicky, 2, plan to remain in Canada for the duration. They are at present guests of Miss Muriel Bisset, sister of the famed squadron leader, at 9006 83 avenue.

Squadron Leader Bisset is a son of Ald. A. Bisset, well known city barrister and at present acting mayor of Edmonton in the absence of Mayor John W. Fry.

Mrs. R. C. Bisset, who comes from Yorkshire, spent three weeks in Ottawa with friends of her husband before coming to Edmonton.

She was married to the Edmonton air officer in February of 1939.

Squadron Leader Bisset, who had always longed to be a flier, left here in 1936 for England where he joined the R.A.F. Just before leaving Edmonton he had been prospecting for radium in the Great Bear Lake district.

He attended King Edward public and Strathcona high schools. He made rapid progress in the R.A.F. and some months after the war started was promoted to the rank of squadron leader.

A member of the first R.C.A.F. squadron in the R.A.F., he made 38 operation flights over enemy territory before the operation from which he did not return about Dec. 1, 1941.

He was the leader of a brilliant raid on Stettin, Germany, in which great fires were set by the Canadians.

WON AWARD

The former Edmonton man is one of a select few to have won the coveted Distinguished Flying Cross for outstanding performance in the present war.

Some of the places bombed by Bisset's squadron are: Berlin, Turin, Essen, Ostend, Hamburg, Kiel, Cologne, Brest, Karlsruhe, Ludwigshafen, Dulsberg, Dortmund, Canabruck, Hanover, Frankfurt, Nuremberg and Wilhelmshaven.

Sqdn. Ldr. Bisset paid his own passage way to Britain to join the R.A.F. in 1936.

This is Mrs. Bisset's first visit to Canada.

Preliminary hearing of Bruce Ingold, 17-year-old Killam boy, charged with the murder of his father, Eli C. Morgan, on May 11, will take place at the city police court before Police Magistrate A. I. Millar, K.C., next Friday. Hugh Calels Macdonald will defend the accused.

Appointment Of Special Investigating Committee Is Proposed By Alderman

The desperate housing problem in Edmonton was brought officially to the attention of the city council by Ald. James H. Ogilvie Tuesday evening in a notice of motion seeking the appointment of a three-man committee to inquire into ways and means of rectifying the situation.

Ald. Ogilvie's motion reads: "That a special committee of three be appointed to inquire into ways and means to overcome the serious housing situation in the city and to report their findings to the city council."

He did not elaborate on his motion which will be debated at the next regular meeting of council.

JAPS ADMITTED

Permission was given to three Japanese families to come to Edmonton from British Columbia. Two Japanese university students were given permission also to come to the city to finish their academic courses at the University of Alberta.

The commissioners were empowered to deal with the applications from two other Japanese families when complete details concerning them have been received by the commissioners.

Ald. Sidney Parsons expressed opposition to permission being granted to any Japanese coming to the city. He said the procedure in these cases was incorrect. "If the federal government desires that the city of Edmonton take in a certain quota of these Japanese, the request should come from the federal authorities, and not from the individual Japanese," Mr. Parsons said.

The commissioners were instructed, on a motion by Ald. H. D. Ainlay, to contact the R.C.M.P. regarding those Japanese already given permission to come to Edmonton, and also to advise the British Columbia Commission dealing with Japanese movement for the defense areas that a statement from the commission on Japanese proposing to come to Edmonton would be appreciated.

Ald. Ainlay asked for informa-

Getting Around with Jack DeLong

This total war is certainly bringing some rapid-fire changes in our concept of values. Even the taken for granted cup of tea and that "cornerstone" of the breakfast world, the popular mug of java, will soon become aristocrats of the dining room.

And that all-important teammate of tea and coffee that used to fill every sugar bowl to overflowing, is pretty high up on the priority social scale.

Those old automobile tires the kids used to have so much fun with by leaving them on your front lawn after getting tired of rolling them around are starting to rival the bullion in the vaults of the national mint.

* * *

And it starts to look as if the coupls are catching on fast to this strange shift of values. A Regina court yesterday sentenced a man to six months in jail for stealing a $10 bicycle.

How granddad would have laughed in scorn had he been told that hens thieves would give way to "desperados" who pedalled furiously away on their stolen mounts.

And strangely enough, gold itself is becoming less and less important as the human strain every effort toward the goal of total war.

Ample Scrap Paper Committee Reports

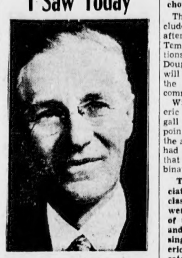

So enthusiastic has been the response of Western Canadian citizens to the demand for scrap paper that way industries are now equipped with all they need for the present, according to word received by the Edmonton Salvage Campaign Committee Wednesday.

In compliance with this situation the national authorities have instructed the local committee to refrain from collecting scrap paper for the present.

The local committee urges therefore that citizens of Edmonton continue bundling their surplus paper supply but refrain from shipping it to the salvage depot until further notice.

Navy Is Seeking Engine Room Men

Commander T. Porteous, R.C.N., director of engineering personnel for the Royal Canadian Navy, Ottawa, will be in Edmonton on Sunday, May, 31, to interview applicants for higher engine room ratings.

There is an immediate and urgent need in the navy now for electrical artificers, motor mechanics and general electricians.

Under the heading of motor mechanics all persons between 18 and 45, who have had experience with automobile engines, are eligible for enlistment.

Commander Porteous will be here for the one day only, applicants should first contact Sub. Lt. D. V. Dougherty, recruiting officer at the Edmonton naval barracks for a preliminary interview.

Preliminary conversations with Sub. Lt. Dougherty are quite necessary so that each applicant may be assured of speedy decision at the time of the Commander's visit.

Crop Prospect Fine In South

Crop prospects in Southern Alberta are excellent due to heavy rains during the past few days, according to Hon. Solon E. Low, provincial treasurer, who was back in his office Wednesday following a trip to the south during which he visited Warner and Lethbridge.

"Crops looked fine," the minister said. "They are getting a soaking rain which should give them a reserve of moisture for some time to come."

From other provincial government sources it was learned that heavy rains have made it difficult to control the flood situation in the High River area. Recent floods due to a rise in the Highwood River caused damage which will cost the province $300,000 to repair. Steady rain of the past few days has increased the difficulty in controlling the waters.

Navy Embarks On New Policy Of Promotion

Policy of promotion from the ranks when appointments in commissions are made will become more general in the Royal Canadian Navy, it was stated.

From now on railngs with ability and energy will be selected for training as officers. This is particularly true in the case of commissioned men in the executive division.

School Chorus Classes Hold Fest Spotlight

With wide variety of events on the program and close competition among the winning entrants, the Wednesday morning sessions of the seventh Edmonton District Musical Festival at McDougall auditorium and the Masonic Temple won applause from both adjudicators and audience, school choruses held special attention.

The sessions at Memorial hall concluded Monday, and on Wednesday afternoon the sessions at Masonic Temple will close with all competitions thereafter taking place in McDougall auditorium. The festival will close with a grand concert in the auditorium on Friday night, commencing at 8.15 p.m.

Winners can be learts, Dr. Frederic Staton, adjudicator at McDougall church, told the contestants. He pointed out that in some instances the singers with the best voices had had the glummest expressions, and that such was hardly a happy combination.

Tone quality, rhythm and enunciation of choirs in the school classes, grades three and four, were excellent, but the absence of the glee which should be felt and expressed facially while singing joyful songs, Dr. Frederic Staton, Vancouver, adjudicator at the Edmonton musical festival, told members of the choirs at the conclusion of the contest.

He particularly singled out the performance of the Oliver School choir. His comment was that this choir had given an excellent per-

Daily Air Mail Is Sought For North

A recommendation for daily air mail service between Edmonton and Fort St. John has been made to Dominion postal authorities by the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce, Reg. C. Rose, executive-secretary of the chamber announced Wednesday.

The recommendation was made after Charles E. Gandel, chairman of the aviation committee, and A. M. MacDonald, chamber president, made a survey of prospective migratory developments to the North as the result of Alaska highway construction.

The survey revealed that in view of an expected influx of civilian population the present service will be inadequate.

Mr. Rose stated that local postal authorities as well as Yukon Southern Air Lines officials have realized the importance of a daily mail route and have offered the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce every possible co-operation in its effort to make such service possible.

Gala Program For Milk Fund Auction

A gala afternoon is planned by Edmonton auctioneers and members of the Kinsmen club for the auction to be held on the Market Square on Wednesday afternoon, June 3 in aid of the Milk for Britain Fund. The sale will start at 1 o'clock sharp.

A large platform will be erected to house the many donations made to the auction fund, and pens are being placed to the side of the platform to accommodate the many purebred animals that have been donated to the cause.

Special decorations will be strung up in the market square, and three bands will be in attendance. The R.C.A.F. No. 4 Initial Training school, by kind permission of Wing Commander J. A. Hutchison; the 2nd Bn. Edmonton Fusiliers (R)CA., by kind permission of Lt.-Col. H. B. Jamieson and the band of the 2nd Corps Troops, Strol Park, by permission of Capt. George S. Crossley.

A "wonderful response" has been received to the appeal for goods to be auctioned off, officials stated.

Relief Costs Show Healthy Decrease

Unemployment relief costs for the four-month period ended April 30 this year were $37,911 below that of the corresponding period last year, according to a report submitted by H. F. McKee, superintendent of the city special relief department disclosed.

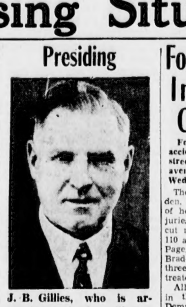

Relief paid during the 1942 period amounted to $14,764 compared with $52,675 for the same period last year, while relief for April 1942 was only $3,736 against $12,337 last year.

The number of persons on relief this year in April was 696 compared with 3,491 last year.

Red Cross Fund Rapidly Growing

Contributions to the northern Alberta division of the Canadian Red Cross society fund, up to Tuesday night, totalled $141,271.86 of its $160,000 objective. The drive closes at the end of the month.

Donations were made up of $53,458.91 from country points and $87,812.95 from Edmonton.

Four Persons Injured When Car, Tram Crash

Four persons were injured in an accident involving an auto and a street car at the corner of Jasper avenue and 103 street at 12:30 a.m. Wednesday.

The injured are Mrs. Betty Braden, 9823 110 avenue, bruised side of head and possible internal injuries; Arnold Lindsay, Red Deer, cut right hand; Jean Newby, 9823 110 avenue, cut over left eye; John Page, Banff hotel, cut on chin. Mrs. Braden was detained and the other three were released after being treated by Dr. L. A. Miller.

All the injured were passengers in the car operated by George Dempster, 106 Condell Block. Dempster and Miss E. Hazen, 107 Condell Block, were not injured.

TRAFFIC REPORT

According to traffic police reports, Dempster was attempting to turn east on Jasper off 103 street, when his auto was struck by an east-bound street car operated by Donald Mann, 11315 81 street.

It was reported that the auto was travelling about four to five miles an hour and the street car was going about 20 miles per hour before the motorman applied the brakes some 120 feet from the scene of the impact.

The car was struck near the right rear and was sandwiched between the street car and the centre post. Both sides of the car were badly crumpled as it was twisted around the post.

All four passengers who were injured were sitting in the back seat. They were taken to the Royal Alexandra hospital in Smith's ambulance.

Don't Invest Too Much For Children

Parents Out to Save Enough to Assure Independence in Old Age—It Will Save a Lot of Trouble in Future

How good a financial investment are Children Preferred? Are parents justified in putting all their money into giving their children and Sunies college educations and swanky cars and fine clothes and social advantages instead of salting some of it away in gilt-edge bonds?

Dorothy Dix

Can Father and Mother depend on cashing in on their children's gratitude when they are old and feeble and penniless, or is the only reliable old-age security their own pocketbook? Is it not better for the children, themselves, to have been given fewer indulgences in their youth and to be saved from the burden of having dependent parents in their maturity?

This is a problem which, of course, does not arise to vex the soul of the very rich who can rear their offspring on cake, or the very poor who often have not even bread for theirs, but that is of vital importance to the men and women of modest incomes who have to decide whether to spend their all in giving their children luxuries, or to save up something that will provide them with an umbrella for their own rainy day.

But, curiously enough, it is an issue which tens of thousands of parents are too sentimental, or too weak and cowardly to face. Father and Mother may be willing to practice self-denial themselves, but they haven't the nerve to make their children do it. Their baby must have handmade caps with as many bows as the baby next door has. Little Johnny and Susie must be dressed as well as the other children in school. They must go to as many movies and drink as many ice cream sodas.

They must belong to the same clubs as the Croesus children do. And when they grow up they must have their cars, even if the butcher bill is unpaid. They must go off to college, not because they have any desire for learning, but because all the other boys and girls are doing it. Susie must entertain and Johnny have money to take his girl out.

FROM RICHES TO RAGS

And when Father's salary cheque, which is never big enough to wipe the slate clean, is prorated every month among the butcher and baker and candlestick-maker and the installment collectors, he hasn't two thin dimes left in his pocket. And, if Papa dies, we have the tragic spectacle that we see every day, of a family that has lived up to its income as it went along and that is left desperate and helpless and plunged into direct poverty when the bread-winner is taken away from it. Or, if Father doesn't die, we are called upon to witness an even more heart-rending sight—that of a man who has worked hard, but has saved nothing and who, in his old age, is dependent and has to learn how sleep are another man's stairs.

The parents who give their children indulgences that they cannot afford justify themselves by saying self-righteously that they are investing their money in their children. They tell you that they are buying an education for Johnny instead of real estate; that in dressing Susie up in fine clothes and giving her parties they are underwriting her chance to make a good marriage, from which they will get bigger profits than they could from any flyer they could take in the stock market; and that they don't have to save for their old age because their children will always support Father and Mother.

SOMETIMES IT DOES PAY

Sometimes it does happen this way. Sometimes Johnny's education does pay 100 per cent. on the dollar. Oftener it is a total loss. Johnny wasn't a student and all he brings home from college is a college yell and an incurable aversion to work. Sometimes Susie catches her millionaire. Oftener she marries the poor boy next door and has to keep on with her job after the wedding. Sometimes the children are grateful and gladly support their parents in their old age, but often Mother and Father are made to feel that they are unwelcome guests in their children's houses, and that they are begrudged the very food they eat.

In reality, the parents who spend everything they make on their children when they are growing up and leave themselves dependent upon them are not doing their sons and daughters the kindness they think they are. All about us are lonely old maids and bachelors who had to give up all thoughts of love and marriage themselves because they had two helpless old people to support. All of us know dozens of homes whose peace and happiness has been wrecked and where husbands and wives have been estranged by their conflicting quarrels over John's mother whom Mary can't abide, or Mary's father who gets on John's nerves, but who are forced to live with them. Many and many a man and woman wish their parents had given them fewer indulgences when they were children and put more money in the savings bank for their old age.

It is parents' duty to give their children every advantage that they can within reason, but they make a great mistake when they do not try to save enough to make themselves independent of their children in their old age. It is best for them and best for the children.

Keep your make-up at a minimum when you're on duty. Concentrate on immaculate grooming, the "twice-clean" look! You can do a perfect grooming job with a few tools, in fewer minutes. It all depends on your knowing how! Cold cream for cleansing, vanishing cream that makes a sixty-second mask and holds powder on through thick and thin, tissues, lipstick and a dusting of powder; these are basic. Pick a cheerful rachel lipstick shade for your one vivid accent.

The opening lead was won with the ace of diamonds. Declarer could not go after the club suit, as he would have to lose an extra trick in order to establish that suit. He therefore started the spades, playing low from dummy to the queen, which was allowed to hold. East won the second spade trick with the king and returned the five of hearts, declarer played the jack and West won with the ace. East won the heart return and made the mistake of continuing that suit. Declarer finessed the eight-spot, and now had time to go over to dummy with the diamond finesse and play the third spade, thus setting up his two needed tricks while he still had command of all three other suits.

McCoy Health Service

Shortness of breath is a symptom which may be mild or severe, and which is capable of arising from one of several causes. One of the most common causes is lack of exercise, and the person who is soft and out of condition will be winded by an activity he could carry out with ease if he had kept physically fit.

Vigorous exercise will cause anyone to become short of breath sooner or later, as strenuous exercise increases the work of the breathing organs about ten-fold. Shortness of breath will occur at that exact point where the breathing mechanism can no longer take in oxygen and throw out carbon dioxide as fast as the body requires. The trained athlete will be able to carry on longer before reaching this point.

Likewise the average person in good health will be able to keep going longer without shortness of breath than one in poor health, in whom the breathing capacity of the lungs has been reduced by disease.

With a mild limitation of breathing capacity, the patient may remain comfortable as long as he is at rest, but will become conscious of being short-winded when putting forth muscular effort, as in climbing stairs.

Shortness of breath may occur in many disorders, for example, it is seen in heart disturbances and in nephritis. When due to heart trouble, the patient may find relief by sitting up, whereas a lying patient may remain propped up on pillows while in bed.

Dyspnea, or shortage of breath, is also produced independent of disease changes, being possibly the result of vigorous exercise; distention of the stomach with too much food which causes pressure upward against the diaphragm, emotional upsets, and nervous conditions. It may also result from overweight.

I receive many letters from readers who state they are short of breath and who wish me to diagnose their cases. It is impossible for me to attempt a diagnosis by mail and I explain to them that there are many possible causes of this symptom.

If you notice you are short of breath, look over your habits of living. It is possibly due to some error in living and if such is the case, you will find that eating sensibly, exercising wisely, taking deep breathing exercises and by losing weight if you are too plump, you will once more be able to breathe in comfort.

When the general health is below par, it is a good plan to be examined to find out if the shortness of breath could be due to some of the disease conditions I have mentioned.

All questions regarding Health and Diet will be answered. Large, stamped, self-addressed envelope must be enclosed. Write on one side of paper only. Letters must not exceed 150 words. Address McCoy Health Service, 1151 West 8th St., Los Angeles, Calif.

What To Do

Naturally most of us prefer sterling silver flatware, and it is to be highly recommended. If you can afford it, there is nothing more lovely than a table set with exquisite linen, fine china, crystal and sterling silver.

On the other hand, plated ware has a merit all its own. Because it is a metal combined with silver, its utilitarian value is good over a number of years. It can stand more knocks than sterling, and the hollow handle pieces are particularly suited to hard wear.

Of course, there are various grades of plated ware, and it is wise to buy the best grade you can. These fine plated pieces carry a long guarantee of service.

There is also on the market, a table ware that is a warm gold color that is most attractive.

Charming Letters Are Easily And Quickly Written

No Hesitation When You Know How

Writing letters need not be a worry if you know how to go about it properly. Don't run the risk of losing friends just because you put off writing.

No hesitating then over that note of thanks to Margie for her gift. Trippingly you write, "Darling of you to send me that exquisite lamp —it's a bright spot in my room."

With correct forms before you you quickly answer the tea invitation written on Mrs. Grey's visiting card. Using the third person, you begin, "Miss Joyce Jones accepts with pleasure . . ."

That letter of introduction is simple when you have a guide at hand. Tactfully you write, "An old friend, Alice Graham, is moving to Middleton. She's devoted to music —I'm sure you two will find much in common."

Where to get good sample letters? There are lots of them in our 32-page booklet! Has letters for business and social occasions, invitations, tips on bright interesting phrases, colorful words. Right beginnings, closings, correct stationery.

Send 15 cents in coins for your copy of "Good Letter-Writing Made Easy" to The Edmonton Bulletin, Home Service Department, 60 Front St. West, Toronto, Ont. Be sure to write plainly your Name, Address, and the Name of Booklet.

Save Yourself Work By Double-Duty Utensils

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

When the bride goes shopping for cooking utensils, she should select those which can be used for serving at the table. Extra kitchen labor will thus be avoided.

"An iron Dutch oven filled with a thick soup, surrounded by bright colored bowls from the dime store, makes a practical yet attractive table service," says Alta Given, "wardrobe mistress" for all the foods used by Hi Williams, noted American artist photographer. "You might tie a bunch of bright red radishes to the handle of that Dutch oven—gives a startlingly cheerful touch."

Miss Given opposes elaborate equipment. "Serve your steaks on a wooden board," she says, "that's practical and very good to look at. It will save your carving knife from being dulled, too. Get inexpensive wicker baskets for bread, pleasant cloths for place mats and always try to have one beautiful flower at least, on the table."

JELLIED PINK PINEAPPLE SOUP
(Makes 6 servings)

One pound pink rhubarb, 1½ cups water, 6 tablespoons sugar, 1½ cups unsweetened Hawaiian pineapple juice, 1 tablespoon (1 envelope) plain gelatine, 1 pint strawberries.

Wash and dice rhubarb, but do not peel. Cook with the water until rhubarb is soft. Strain and dissolve sugar in hot rhubarb juice. Add gelatine which has been softened in one-quarter cup pineapple juice. Stir until gelatine is dissolved. Add remaining pineapple juice. Cool and place in refrigerator. When mixture starts to thicken, fold in straw berries which have been washed, hulled, and sliced. Serve very cold with your favorite crisp, salted crackers.

Tomorrow's Menu

Tough Commandos Fall Victims Of Tea Invitation

A dozen commandos leaned wearily against vicarage railings on the outskirts of Plymouth during an invasion test. The vicar, recognizing them as "enemy," invited the group in for tea. The grateful commandos drank the brew, then were told by the vicar that "you've all been poisoned and are out of action." An umpire complimented the vicar on his initiative.

Silver foxes are not silver; they are black with a white tip on the end of the tail. They are not a different kind of fox from the ordinary red foxes. They are simply red foxes that are darker than the others. By breeding the dark ones for generations the offspring becomes still darker, although they are not a new species, and if left to run wild, would soon return to the red color again. Likewise, the cinnamon bear is a brown stage of the black bear. Polar bears are albinos.

Beauty Editor Is Visitor In Edmonton

"It is the duty of every woman to keep herself looking as attractive as possible during these trying times." So spoke Miss Jean Alexander, Beauty Editor of Chatelaine Magazine in an interview Wednesday morning. Miss Alexander is visiting in this city, in the capacity of public relations officer with the Swift Canadian company.

One time women's editor on a Calgary newspaper, Miss Alexander has held the position of beauty editor with Chatelaine for the past year and a half. She stated that beauty has a great deal to do with morale. Proof of this fact has been demonstrated in England, where women in canteens have been given lipstick to wear while on duty.

Conscious of the moralizing role they must play, Canadian women are definitely becoming more "beauty conscious". In many large salons in eastern Canada the number of customers has almost doubled since the outbreak of war.

In private life Miss Alexander is Mrs. Paul T. Breithaupt of Toronto. She has a small son, aged two, and a daughter four.

For many years Miss Alexander has taken an active role in public relations work with the Dominion government. She is keenly interested in nutrition and has been attending nutrition meetings all across Canada.

Miss Alexander will remain in the city until Saturday evening. She is a guest at the Macdonald hotel.

Mrs. Denyer Is Complimented On Birthday

HONORING an English visitor, Mrs. Denyer, on the occasion of her 70th birthday, her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. S. Denington entertained at a supper party recently. Mrs. Denyer has been visiting in Edmonton for the past three years, guest of her sister, Mrs. G. Ambrose.

Mrs. Denyer came to Edmonton three years ago this month to visit with her brother and sister, before returning to her home in England after a holiday trip to South America. Because of war conditions, Mrs. Denyer remained in Edmonton, where she will stay for the duration of the war.

Flowers and greetings were received during the day. Gifts were presented to her at the party in the evening. Among the gifts was a basket from the Blue Willow Sewing Circle of H. H. Cooper, Ltd., for which Mrs. Denyer has done a large amount of war knitting.

Tulips and narcissi graced the supper table.

Present at the party were Mr. and Mrs. G. Ambrose, Mr. and Mrs. J. Cummings, Mr. and Mrs. J. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Burns, Mr. and Mrs. T. Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. Griffith, Mr. and Mrs. W. Barton, Miss Dorothy Cummings, Mr. and Mrs. S. Dennington, Miss Eileen Cummings and Mr. William Cummings.

Leader Grads C.G.I.T. Given Certificates

AT an impressive ceremony in Bissell Memorial Institute Tuesday evening 11 young Edmonton women, members of the Canadian Girls in Training Leader Grads, received the highest credentials in leadership training possible in Canada when they were given their Specialization Certificates for Leadership from the Religious Education Council of Canada.

For two years the girls have worked and played together learning to be competent leaders.

TWO YEARS' TRAINING

They have taken courses in Bible study, given by Rev. R. McElroy Thomson, Rev. W. T. Young, and Rev. J. A. Perrie; in voice training and story telling, given by Miss Audrey McKim and Mrs. A. Stewart; in world friendship, given by Mrs. George MacDonald and Mrs. A. Stewart; in psychology of girls, by Mrs. W. J. Byron; in handicraft by Mrs. R. A. Godson and Mrs. H. F. Schnell; in recreation, given by Miss Dorothy Pybus; in temperance, given by Mrs. A. E. Cook; in the psychology of self, by Miss Dorothy Pybus; in health and nutrition, by Dr. Mary Atack; in worship study, given by Miss Katherine Kaburing and Mrs. D. C. Thornton; in project planning, given by Miss Margery Stelck and Mrs. Kaburing; in G.I.T. organization and administration, by Miss Lillian Carseadden; in singing leadership, by Mrs. D. C. Thornton.

Several of the members of the graduating class have already G.G.I.T. classes under their direction and leadership but by completing this course they have made themselves better leaders, better women, more able to take their place in the world.

"A Challenge of Leadership" was the topic of Miss Lillian Carseadden's impressive message to the girls. General Secretary of the Religious Education Council of Alberta, Miss Carseadden warned the girls that leadership was not easy, nor would they want it to be easy. It is the challenges of life that makes it interesting. The results of good leadership are not quick but take time and patience.

The service was arranged by Miss Mary Moon, secretary of the C.G.I.T. Leader Grads.

Following the service tea was served to the guests of honor by the C.G.I.T. Girls' Board of Edmonton. Mrs. W. M. Stelck, the president, was in charge. During the social hour the girls of the class presented Miss Carseadden with a gift in appreciation of her work.

Graduating members included Miss Betty Alexander, Miss Frances Bell, Miss Patricia Clark, Miss Joy Kennedy, Miss Doris Lees, Miss Olive Miller, Miss Helen Murphy, Miss Doreen Philip, Miss Enid Philip, Miss Mary Rodina, and Miss Betty Wells.

Knox United Church W.M.S. Hears Talk By Mrs. J. S. McCall

Women's responsibilities and opportunities for service in this period of war stress, was the theme of an address given by Mrs. J. S. McCall at a meeting of Knox United Church W.M.S. She urged each woman to do her share as requested by the government to avoid inflation.

Mrs. Myles Fraser and Mrs. A. I. Millar were in charge of the devotional hour. Mrs. Adam Dobbie was soloist.

Treasurer, Mrs. E. Sierwright, reported the first quarterly allocation toward missionary work had been met. Plans were made for a garden party at the manse on June 17.

Little Theatre Holds Annual Meeting

AT the annual meeting of the Edmonton Little Theatre Tuesday evening in the Empire room, Hudson's Bay Company store, Mrs. Margaret Hutton-Potts was awarded the Kerr trophy for the best acting for 1941-42 in the Little Theatre. The trophy was presented by Dr. W. A. R. Kerr, the donor, who is honorary president of the organization.

Mrs. Hutton-Potts was voted the best actress by a committee of three for her work in "French Without Tears" and "Family Portrait."

BOARD OF SYNDICS

During the business part of the meeting the members of the organization elected the board of syndics for the coming year. They are O. J. Walker, president; Mrs. Clement Christie, secretary; Mr. McCarthy, treasurer; Miss Daisy Junkin, play reading; Mr. H. Brock Smith, public relations; Mr. Jack Unwin, production manager; Mr. Clement Christie, business manager; Mr. George Day, properties; Mr. Margaret Hutton-Potts, social convener; Mr. William J. Dick and Mrs. Elsie Park Gowan.

The meeting was a combination social and business affair. Members and friends enjoyed the moving pictures of Little Theatre plays shown by Mr. Harvey Kagna. Still pictures of many of the plays were shown by Dr. Gowan. Later refreshments were served.

War Worker Of W.M.S. Is Named

TORONTO, May 27.—(CP)—Dominion Board of the United Church of Canada Women's Missionary Society, Tuesday appointed Miss Verda Ullman, a graduate of the United Church training school, to visit war industries and training centres.

It will be Miss Ullman's assignment to establish community work and ascertain the needs of the workers regarding housing, recreation, church connections and similar problems.

Members attending the board's annual meeting also discussed today —and favored—a proposed nursery school plan to care for children whose mothers are working in war industries. It is expected that a resolution covering this will be forwarded later in the week to the Dominion government. The board decided that the church, in its primary department, has much equipment available for day nurseries of nursery schools if the government will take the lead in the matter.

The board decided upon a policy whereby as far as possible, church workers will follow the Japanese-Canadian congregations of the United Churches in the coast area into the school cities of British Columbia to which the Japanese have been evacuated.

This was in line with a recommendation made by the conference branch of British Columbia.

Empire Bureau Tells How To Save Tea

OTTAWA, May 27.—(CP)—The Empire Tea Bureau today laid down a series of suggestions for saving tea. The suggestions coincided with a Wartime Prices and Trade Board order that individual tea consumption in Canada must be reduced by one-half.

They were as follows:

1—Measure carefully the amount of tea and boiling water put in the tea pot.

2—Use one level teaspoon of tea and one cup of boiling water for each cup.

If you do that, the bureau said in a booklet of information on tea, one pound of popularly-priced tea will make at least 200 cups—"more if weak tea is desired."

Toronto Club Women Propose Doing Away With Afternoon "Tea"

TORONTO, May 27.—(CP)—That traditional cup of tea after meetings of women's organizations is "out" for the duration—if representative Toronto club women have their way.

On the heels of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board order reducing tea consumption by one-half, several representative women's leaders made it known that they would urge their organizations to dispense with tea serving.

In Memoriam 7

To assist readers in preparing "In Memoriam" notices, the Edmonton Bulletin has prepared a booklet of some very appropriate verses. It is free upon request. Call write or phone for a copy

In loving memory of my dear husband, Walter T. Dixon, who passed away May 27, 1940.

Where loveliness never dies,
He lives in a land of glory,
'Midst the blue and gold of the sky
And I who dearly loved him,
Whose passing has brought many tears,
Will cherish his memory always,

Westglen Group Elects Officers

Annual meeting and election of officers of the Mounglen Home and School Association was held on Tuesday night in the Westmount High school. President C. H. Grant, K.C., was in the chair, and gave his presidential report.

Miss B. Baltrick, retiring Grade 1 teacher, was presented with a photograph album of her former pupils. Presentation was made by Mrs. W. A. Hanaford who stated that Miss Baltrick was very well liked by both parents and pupils and that her retirement was a real loss to the community.

C. H. Grant, K.C., was re-elected president and Mrs. V. D. Dryden was re-named vice-president. J. Hanaford was named secretary-treasurer, and S. Ewing corresponding secretary.

Appointed to the executive committee were Mrs. L. Northey, G. G. Harmon, A. B. McKin, Mrs. A. S. Bird, Mrs. S. J. Collier, Mrs. W. E. Hanaford, J. D. A. Macdonald, Mrs. R. W. J. Christie and Mrs. F. W. Penfold.

Mountain Resort Great Attraction

Banff is the historical playground of the Stony Indians, and the middle of August has been set aside for annual Indian Days. Then it is that the Stony Indian tribe from the nearby Morley reserve take possession of Banff and hold their annual native sports events. Nowhere on this continent can such a colorful Indian spectacle be seen.

Other important events are the Banff annual regatta, held each 24th of May, the Banff winter carnival, held each February and ski championships in March.

Edson Man Freed In Supreme Court

A supreme court jury Tuesday afternoon, after 18 minutes deliberation, returned a not guilty verdict on manslaughter and dangerous driving charges preferred against Alvin Keith Craig, Edson. The verdict was accepted by Mr. Justice G. B. O'Connor who discharged the accused.

The charges arose out of an automobile accident at Edson on the night of January 31 in which Steve Odowichuk, Edson district farmer, received injuries from which he died five days later.

J. W. McClung, K.C., prosecuted, and A. W. Miller, K.C., and G. W. Auxier acted for the accused.

Believe Garments Belong To Suicide

Following investigation of the circumstances surrounding the finding of a hat and overcoat at the head of Dawson bridge, city police believe that Samuel Kimberg, 10315 96 street, committed suicide by leaping off the bridge into the river.

According to a report given the police by Mrs. Kimberg, the missing man was last seen Monday night at about 10 p.m. presumably going to his bedroom.

The following morning Mrs. Kimberg found that the bed had not been used that night and that her husband had disappeared.

Further investigation revealed that a resident near the bridge had seen a man standing at the bridge entrance at about 11:30 p.m. Monday. The case was investigated Tuesday after a pedestrian crossing the Dawson bridge reported finding a rain coat and hat on the north side of the bridge. Some papers and a national registration card bearing the name Samuel Kimberg, 9533 105 avenue led to the inquiries regarding the whereabouts.

Kimberg was a relief case.

Duplication Of Service Subject At Traffic Meet

Bus and truck service duplication will be discussed at a meeting of representatives of western highway traffic boards in Regina Thursday, it was stated by officials here Wednesday.

Edmonton delegates to the conference are N. W. Macpherson, provincial commissioner of highways and who is also a member of the Highway Traffic Board, and W. T. Aiken, secretary, who was recently appointed a member of the board. They left Wednesday for the meeting.

It is likely uniformity in the administration of traffic controller orders will be discussed. G. S. Gray, dominion transit controller, will be chairman.

Medical Men To Meet At Jasper Park June 15-19

JASPER PARK LODGE, May 27.—When Dr. A. E Archer of Lamont, Alta., president, calls to order the 73rd annual meeting of the Canadian Medical Association, taking place here June 15 to 19, he will be addressing the largest convention ever to convene at this famous summer hotel, operated by the Canadian National Railways.

Doctors and surgeons from all parts of the Dominion will attend, in some cases accompanied by their wives. Reservations have already been made for 750 according to Dr. T. C. Routley, general secretary of the association, Toronto, and it is anticipated that this number is very likely to increase before the opening of the convention. A wider variety of subjects will be discussed and 120 speakers will address the convention.

The province of Alberta, host to the association, will have the largest reservation and will also provide many interesting exhibits.

25 FROM MONTREAL

Montreal is sending over 25 delegates, headed by Doctors Wilder Penfield, C. A. Peters, Keith Hutchison, F. S. Patch, L. P. Nelligan, A. G. McAuley, Howard Kelly, D. W. McKechnie and C. E. Trenholme. Others in the Montreal delegation are Doctors L. Perreaux, Carleton Pierce, D. Leigh, H. E. McDermot, C. R. Joyce, John W. Gerrie, H. A. Cave, J. B. Hutchberg, George Hodge, H. Lechante, H. Dufresne, J. H. Marchand, D. S. Lewis, John J. Quinn and M. Goslin.

From Ottawa there will be Doctors Cyril Observon, J. E. Plunkett, T. L. Fisher, Warren S. Lyman and J. Fenton Argue.

Heading the Maritime provinces delegation are Doctors R. J. Collins and Skinner, Saint John; W. J. P. MacMillan, Charlottetown; O. E. Moorhouse, Fredericton, and H. S. Everett, St. Stephen, N.B.

Montreal Delegates to the convention will leave on June 12 travelling by the Canadian National Railways "Continental Limited". After the close of the convention one of the delegates will continue to the Pacific coast before returning home.

Big Dance Revue Being Prepared

Featured by a baby ballet including 40 children under nine years of age, the annual revue of the Casavant School of Dancing entitled Canadian Capers of 1942, will be presented in the Empire Theatre on Saturday, May 30.

There will be more than 100 in the cast and 56 dance numbers on the program, including a huge number of South and Central American numbers. One feature number is a dance to the tune of Begin the Beguine—the dance of Rumba and Ray Moore and which will include versions of the bolero, tango, Conga, rumba and Samba. The revue will conclude with a military scene.

Russia Offered Lend-Lease Plan

By WADE WERNER

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP)—The United States today communicated to Soviet Russia the terms of a proposed lend-lease agreement between the two countries.

The draft proposal was handed to Soviet ambassador Maxim Litvinoff by State Secretary Cordell Hull in the course of a 45-minute conference during which, it was understood, other matters also were discussed.

Neither Litvinoff nor Mr. Hull disclosed the contents of the proposed agreement, but it was learned, however, that its purpose was to bring lend-lease arrangements with Russia into line with agreements already reached with Great Britain and other United Nations governments.

This, in effect, would align Soviet Russia with Britain and the United States in post-war efforts to restore world trade on the principles long advocated by Hull.

Our Boarding House — Major Hoopie — Out Our Way — —By Williams

Today's Sport Parade

—By Jack Guenther

NEW YORK, May 27.—(BUP)—The brightest bit of news on the baseball bulletin board today is an item heavily underscored with irony. It seems that the forgotten man of the tremendous St. Louis-Brooklyn trade back in 1940 has suddenly become the bogey man of this Brooklyn-St. Louis pennant fight in 1942. You remember his name—Curt Davis.

At the moment Davis is celebrating the completion of another phase in his campaign to prove that you can't keep a good man down. The gaunt string bean of a man, who is tall as the Sphinx and twice as silent, has just racked up his sixth triumph of the season and, in doing it, practically erased the name of Joe Medwick from the hearts of the Dodger rooters.

As you may or may not recall, Medwick and Davis came to Brooklyn together. Larry MacPhail bought them for four players and $100,000. When they arrived, Medwick was promptly lionized. His tremendous hitting, the flock shouted in unison, would win the pennant without further delay. As for Davis, he crept into Ebbets Field unnoticed, unloved and virtually unwanted.

Leading Pitcher in National

THE lanky Missourian was just the lagniappe of the Medwick deal. If he won a few games, then all right; they would be accepted as a bonus. If he didn't; well, nobody expected him to anyway. He was past 30, he had tossed out his arm a few seasons before and he was in a slump.

That was the picture in the summer of 1940.

There was another picture at Ebbets Field Monday. In the past two years things have changed in Flatbush. Medwick no longer is hailed as the savior of the flock. Monday, for instance, he was booed every time he walked up to the plate. But Davis—ah, there. No boos for him; he is the leading pitcher in the National League and a mighty good one.

Davis is, in fact, the baseball phenomenon of 1942. By all the rules which govern such things, the oldster who never intended to become a major leaguer and didn't become one until he passed 28 should have completed the cycle two years ago and be back now at his original trade of felling trees. Instead, he is right up at the head of the class.

Dodger Fans Like Davis

SUCCESS is where you find it. Davis has found his in Brooklyn. Monday, while the fans were hooting Medwick, they were heralding the one-time forgotten man. And with good reason. For Monday Davis let down Philadelphia with two hits. One of them was a blooper over second and the other a grounder which Dolph Camilli muffed and which could have been called an error.

The triumph was about as spectacular as an early morning fog. The big guy with the buggy-whip arm just stepped up and mowed 'em down. He struck out the first batter with three pitches, wasn't touched for a hit until the fourth and, after ubbending with one more safety in the fifth, retired the opposition on order. He didn't even give up a walk.

While the victory wasn't dramatic, it was extremely impressive. It was the second two-hitter Davis marked up in three starts. In his last 27 innings of work, he has been stingy to the point of niggardliness. The opposition has reached him for exactly one run. This streak is conclusive proof that Davis never was better at throwing a ball past a batter.

The Tip in a Big Deal

THERE is no easy explanation for his sudden success. Maybe that master trader, Branch Rickey, made the same sort of mistake that master blunderer, P. K. Wrigley, made before him. Both gentlemen cut Davis loose and threw him away as a tip in a big deal. And on both occasions he has returned to haunt his ex-bosses with a vengeance.

Wrigley used him as part payment for Dizzy Dean. While Ol' Diz won just about a dozen games for Wrigley, Davis won 36 for Rickey. Then Rickey tossed him to MacPhail to seal the Medwick transaction. While Rickey found he couldn't use a single player he got from Brooklyn. Davis won 13 games—and a pennant—for the beloved bums a year ago.

Curt hasn't won the pennant again this year—not yet. But if he continues his current pace, the race won't last until the final week—as it did in 1941. Right now St. Louis is six games behind the Bums and the contest isn't close. But subtract the six games Davis has won and the race would be tighter than Lou Costello's vest.

Derby Winner Beats Challedon

Shut Out Gallops Right Back Into Belmont Spotlight

NEW YORK, May 27—(AP)—Shut Out, sprprise winner of the Kentucky Derby, served notice Tuesday that Alsab may not have the June 6 running of the rich Belmont Stakes at his mercy when he easily won the Ballot Handicap at Belmont Park.

Mrs. Payne Whitney's three-year-old son of Equipoise romped away from three veterans twice his age as he hit the finish line of the mile and an eighth race six lengths in advance of W. L. Brann's Challedon, not the horse he was in 1939 and '40, but still a mighty tough customer.

Shut Out travelled the distance, under the direction of Eddie Arcaro, in the fast time of 1:48 4-5, only two-fifths of a second off the track record. He packed 112. 14 less than Challedon carried, in winning the purse of $1,965.

Challedon, ridden by Georgie Woolf, had another five lengths on Louis B. Mayer's Australian star, Reading 11, while Third Degree, stablemate of Shut Out, trailed by six more lengths.

Remembering Shut Out's fine Derby performance and apparently overlooking the fact he did no better than fifth in the Preakness, the crowd backed the entry down until it paid only $3.40 for a $2 win ticket.

Toronto Golfers In Hale America

TORONTO, May 27—(CP)—A pair of Toronto golfers—Gord Brydon of Mississauga and Bob Gray of Scarborough—qualified yesterday to represent Canada at the Hale America Open golf championship in Chicago from June 18-21 when they collected the two bowtie scores in the qualifying tournament at the Toronto golf club layout.

Brydon captured the No. 1 place with a 36-hole score of 144. He shot a par 71 to lead the field of 15 in the first round and dropped a 25-foot putt for a birdie three to complete his afternoon round with a 73.

Gray qualified by putting together rounds of 73 and 72 for 145. His 18th green birdie three on the final hole enabled him to finish a single stroke ahead of Bill Kerr of Cedarbrae and Bob Burns of Weston, who tied with 146s.

Sports . . . . Roundup

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, May 27—(AP)—Wonder whatevpr became of that golf blackout that was heading this way a couple of months ago? . . .

When Paul Waner draws his 361th the amateur, it looked as if the three was all through for the duration, but the P.G.A. started big as ever at Atlantic City yesterday and more guys playing in the Hale America tournament than ever entered any other event.

When Paul Waner draws his 361th walk this season he'll join Mel Ott among the major leaguers who have had 1,000 passes to first. He's also close to the 3,000-hit mark.

Latest report from pro football headquarters is that 84 National League players are in the Army, 96 in the Navy and nine in the Marines. Of those 33 are in the air arms and 26 already have been commissioned.

Krist, Cardinals' Relief Pitcher Has Great Record

ST. LOUIS, May 27.—(AP)—It is high time for someone to introduce Howard (Spud) Krist to the baseball public because his pitching record for St. Louis Cardinals is one of the most remarkable in the big major leagues—15 victories and one defeat spread over four seasons.

The tall righthander was overlooked last year when everybody was agog about Whit Wyatt, Kirby Higbe, Thornton Lee, the comeback of Lefty Gomez and the promise of Howie Pollett. But Krist won 10 games without a loss in 1941 and he has won two more without a setback this season.

Krist's specialty is relief and it was in this role that he earned his second success yesterday as the Cardinals curbed Chicago Cubs 3-1 in 10 innings.

For seven scoreless innings the game was a pitching struggle between Max Lanier and Vern Olsen, making his first start since breaking two fingers on his pitching hand during the Cubs' spring training. Terry Moore broke the spell with a homer in the eighth and the Cubs came roaring back in the ninth to tie the score.

Three men singled, one run was in and two were out when Krist strolled to the mound. He promptly forced Olsen to pop to shortstop Martin Marion, Then in the 10th Enos Slaughter and Coaker Triplett knocked in two St. Louis runs and Krist checked the Cubs although giving up a single and a walk.

Rifle Club Holds Merchandise Shoot

A successful shooting match for merchandise prizes was arranged by the competition committee of the Greater Edmonton Rifle Association at their indoor range on Friday. Following the match several men of the group, headed by Archie Browning, arranged a buffet lunch.

Signs As Coach

NEW YORK, May 27—(AP)—Fred Fitzsimmons, veteran pitcher released by Brooklyn Dodgers Monday to bring the club down to the 25-player limit, has been signed as coach by Larry MacPhail, Dodger president.

Manning Depot Shot Wins Award

MONTREAL, May 27—(CP)—Five marksmen from Alberta have won the expert shield award, it was reported Tuesday from headquarters of the dominion marksmen organization here.

It is necessary to post a score of 5,800 points to gain the shield.

Lieut. Chas. R. Nash, secretary of the Jay Tree Rifle Club, Killam, is the eleventh marksman in the dominion to post the perfect score of 6,000 points.

Two members of the Calgary Rifle Club, B. Horne and C. R. Brown, posted 5,932 and 5,982 respectively.

Cubs Practice

Cubs, of the City Junior Baseball League, will hold a practice at the golf links diamond at 7 p.m. this evening. A full turnout of players is requested.

Garneau Tennis

A general meeting and election of officers of the Garneau Tennis Club will be held Thursday, May 28, at 8 p.m. in the Garneau community clubhouse, 84th avenue. All members and those interested in playing tennis are invited to attend.

New Taxi Order Affects Whittier

WINNIPEG, May 27.—(CP)—Special motor bus and cruising taxi services to race tracks in the Winnipeg area have been prohibited by George S. Gray, transit controller, Ottawa.

The order will particularly affect Whittier Park in St. Boniface, where race patrons will be forced to walk more than a mile from the end of the regular bus line. The races are scheduled to open at Whittier on Saturday.

It may mean that the entire race program will be switched to Winnipeg's Polo Park, where street car service is available to the park gates. Only 14 days racing is allowed on one track under present laws, and permission of the Manitoba government would be necessary before the program could be changed.

In other years cruising taxis with fares of 21 cents a person have been permitted to operate here during the racing season.

Nelson, Hogan In Third Place

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., May 27.—(AP)—The golf form that made Harry Cooper one of the game's most sensational competitors in the middle 30's appeared suddenly to have returned as he sailed around the Seaview Country Club in 67-71 the last two days to capture medalist honors Tuesday in the qualifying test for the P.G.A. tournament.

Little considered when the professionals gathered for their annual slugfest, the baldish star from Minneapolis thrust his way into the forefront by the way he tore into Seaview. The 36-hole matches start today and continue through Sunday.

Cooper's 36-hole total of 138 won him the medal by a single stroke over Cpl. Jim Turnesa and Sammy Byrd, the former baseball star, each of whom carded a two-day 139. Turnesa, now stationed at Fort Dix, scored 67-72, and Byrd copied him to the letter.

Craig Wood, the United States open champion, held down the 140 bracket all by himself with successive rounds of 70.

The two most feared competitors in the field, Byron Nelson of Toledo, and Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., shared the 141 berth with big Ed. Dudley, the P.G.A. champion, while at 142 were bunched Lloyd Mangrum, Willie Goggin and Bruce Coltart, the home club professional. Mangrum's 68 was low for the second round.

The two qualifying rounds produced their casualties. Both Walter Hagen, a five time P.G.A. king, and Gene Sarazen, three-time winner, went into the discard. Hagen scarcely was expected to be among the qualifiers, but Sarazen shot a three-under-par 69 on his initial round and ballooned to an 80 Wednesday. The Little Squire was miserable from an attack of sinus.

A "sudden death" play-off was necessary to fill out the list of 31 who will join Corporal Ghezzi, the defending champion, in the hand-to-hand matches.

Eight were tied at 147, and only five places were open in the championship round. Paul Runyan, Herman Barron and Tom Mahan, of Beverly, Mass., drew the black beans. Each went over par on the first hole, while the fortunate five, which included S. Parks, Jr., of Fittsburgh, a former open champion, managed regulation fours.

Gordon Gelhaye In Active Forces

WINNIPEG, May 27—(CP)—Gordon Gelhaye, 270-pound former United States football star who won Canadian Press all-star rating at middle wing the past three years in the Western Interprovincial Union, enlisted Monday with the Winnipeg Light Infantry of the Canadian (Active) Army.

Gelhaye played football at St. Thomas University, Minneapolis, before going to Edmonton in 1938. In his second season with Edmonton Eskimos, he was chosen for the Union All-star team in 1939. The next season he repeated with Calgary Bronks and last season made it three in a row with Vancouver Grizzlies.

It is reported that small trout transplanted to New Zealand waters grow as large as the salmon.

Dodgers Play Hornets Tonight

Second game of the Edmonton Senior Baseball League for the season is scheduled for 7 o'clock tonight, with Dodgers and Hornets the opposing clubs.

This will be the first appearance of the Hornets, the entry of Aircraft Repair Ltd., and as Jim Kelly is the man at the helm the team will undoubtedly be able to hold its own in local senior circles.

MONTREAL, May 27—(CP)—Loy Wyman, manager of welterweight Maxie Berger of Montreal, announced Tuesday that Berger would fight Al Lust of Medicine Hat, Alta., in a 12-round bout at Calgary, July 3.

Col. Bowen Cops 'Groundhog Stakes' At Rifle Shoot

F. R. Daniel with a 69 was top scorer in the regular shoot of the Edmonton Garrison Rifle Association held at Winterburn range on May 24.

J. Saidler turned in a 68, being followed by D. W. F. Richardson with 67 and Capt. M. A. McIntyre with 66.

Col. P. E. Bowen only made 30 on the 200 yard target, but had a perfect day otherwise. He registered a 35 on the 200 yards, in addition to copping the "Groundhog Stakes". The Colonel scored a "possible" with one shot when a ground hog had the temerity to walk along the 200 yard mound.

Man In Her Heart

By Rob Eden

CHAPTER XXXI.

"SURE, I know all that, Doc. I know they're creatures of habit. But we've got two weeks to break him into these things, and if we work him with them several times a day, he'll get accustomed to the sudden blindness and accept it as a matter of course."

"Maybe so. I hope you're right, lass. There's nothing in this world I'd like better than to see you land Kokoa in the money in the big race."

"In the money, Doc? What's the matter, are you losing your nerve? I'm playing him to win, and if he can't win, I'd just as leave he'd be last."

Privately believing that the colt was more likely to be last than first, Doc agreed, however, to give Anne's plan a thorough tryout.

Doc consulted several friends about a good boy and he and Anne made a deal for Johnny Rains, a promising young apprentice to work out Kokoa. His agent was glad of the chance to pick up a $50 fee for exercising.

"If things work out the way we hope," the girl told the rider, "and you can handle Kokoa, we'll see that you ride him in the Mayfair."

"Gee, Miss, that'll be swell," he said. "I've been hopin' for a mount like Kokoa's going to take to the blinkers all right, doesn't it?"

"We'll have to keep working with him, every day. There's only two weeks left you know, so we haven't much time."

Early every morning, Anne had Johnny and the horse on the track, and the third day, when Kokoa showed less inclination to leap the fence whenever the shutter clicked before his eye, they decided he was ready to be broken in on the turn.

"From now on," she directed Johnny, "never shut the blinker except right at the head of the stretch. We've got to get him accustomed to going blind in his right eye at the same spot." So Johnny worked and worked the horse, and each time as the grandstand came in sight around the last turn, he pulled the leather string. At first Kokoa shied and tried to bolt, but finally seemed to accept the innovation.

Of course there was no way of telling whether he would behave himself in a race, but it was a chance Anne decided they'd have to take.

"I'd like to put him in the trial Saturday," she told Burgess, "but I don't dare. I don't believe he's been schooled enough yet, and even if he was I wouldn't want to show my hand. If we're going to win with Kokoa, we might as well win at a price."

HECTIC WEEK

During this hectic week, Anne hardly saw Rusty. He was busy running a horse nearly every day. Seldom did one of Van Evers' horses he saddled run out of the money and Brenda and her father were elated. The odds had gone down on his Sky Writer, too.

A couple of times when Rusty did come by, he saw Pat very much in evidence, so he merely nodded or waved a careless greeting and went on about his business.

It was so different from his usual habit of stopping to banter with Anne or Doc, that the girl remarked about it to Pat.

"Guess he's gone high hat since he's been taken up by society," the newspaper man laughed. "He scarcely ever bothers to nod at me any more."

Anne wondered about Rusty's changed attitude, and then dismissed it from her mind. She had enough of worries of her own without taking on anything extra, although she had to admit she missed seeing her watercracking former neighbor.

Dick Count was busy supervising final preparations of Moon Jade for the big race, but Anne kept out of his way. She knew that if she encountered him, she'd lose her temper again and say something she might regret. She'd made up her mind to forget Moon Jade.

With all of her hopes now pinned on Kokoa it was impossible to do justice to his preparation and worry about what might have been.

"The best way to get even with that gang," she told herself, "is to beat them in a fair race. They won't be expecting that, and the shock would just about kill them."

He made no secret of the fact that she was the sun, moon and stars about which his world revolved even though he'd had no further encouragement since the night Anne had told him she'd see how she felt after the race.

SEEKS ADVICE

Knowing that Burgess was closer to her than anyone else, he cornered the old vet one afternoon and asked her advice.

"I'm doing a lousy job at the paper, I can't sleep at nights and I've got no more appetite than a canary," he said.

"Offhand, I'd diagnose your condition as serious but not necessarily fatal," Doc said.

"Does Anne ever mention me to you?" Pat demanded, eagerly.

"Well, occasionally," the old man admitted and Barnes seized on that crumb as though it were a whole loaf.

"Do you think she'll marry me?"

"You'll have to ask her that yourself, son."

"I already have."

"What did she say?" Doc tried to conceal his anxiety, and felt immeasurably relieved when Pat told him Anne had deferred all talk of romance until after the stake.

"She's smart, Pat, and you ought to let her alone. She's working like the devil on Kokoa, and she hasn't any time for monkey business now."

"It might help and I'd certainly appreciate it if you'd slip in a good word for me when you get the chance," Pat urged.

"Sorry," the old man answered, "but I'm not playing Cupid for any newspaper man." He walked away and as he went he muttered to himself, "Besides, I'm betting on another hoss in that race."

"Darn Rusty, anyway," he said. "I thought by this time, he'd be hanging around here like a tax collector, but he hardly passes the time of day any more."

CHECKS STRATEGY

That night he went to Mrs. Murphy to lay the whole matter before her again and check on his strategy.

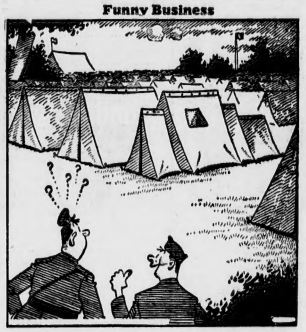

"Sure, and don't worry your head about it," the experienced Kate advised. "Things is working out as I expected."

ESTIVAL AWARDS

McGibbon Trophy Is Won By Berneice McBeth For Second Successive Year

Miss Berneice McBeth, well known city artist and consistant winner at musical festivals, was adjudged winned of the McGibbon trophy awarded to the winner of the open soprano class at the seventh annual Edmonton District Musical Festival, Tuesday night.

In competition with five other soloists, Miss McBeth won by a wide margin over her nearest rival, Jeanette Paul. The winner was awarded ratings of 90 and 88 per cent, respectively, for two numbers of her own choice and Miss Paul received 86 per cent each for her numbers.

Selecting "Come Now, Turn Now, O My Treasure," by Handel, for her first number and following it with "Piping Down the Valley," by Blake and Fordell, Miss McBeth gave an artistic performance that received unbounded praise from the adjudicator, Dr. J. Frederic Staton.

CHARMING TONE

"An artist with charming tone, rendering a most delightful contrast of selections," were Dr. Staton's opening remarks. "The selections chosen were well within her range and were rendered in most artistic fashion. The first three notes that she sang were sufficient to convince me that we were listening to an artist," Dr. Staton remarked.

At the close of the competition Dr. Staton presented Miss McBeth with the McGibbon trophy, given annually to the winner of the open soprano class.

This is the second year in succession that the youthful artist won this trophy. She has won numerous awards at district and provincial festivals.

Also receiving high praise during the evening's performance was the All Saints' Junior Chorus, conducted by Vernon Barford. This group of children received ratings of 89 and 90 per cent respectively for their rendition of "Finale, Act 1," "H.M.S. Pinafore", and "Loch Lomond".

ENJOYABLE PERFORMANCE

Dr. Staton described it "as a most enjoyable performance, with the top tones beautiful." The soprano tone was one of the best heard in Canada. Dr. Staton said.

He described the diction of the chorus as "excellent" but remarked that the principals did not reach that quality.

In class 91 for junior bugle bands, the Xavier Cadets of St. Andrews school were awarded first prize with 82 marks and the Xavier Tigers of the same school were two points behind.

Lester Casault was director of both groups and the two numbers played by each group were of his own choosing.

The Glenora piano class, under the direction of Mrs. Glen Barker, won first in the rhythmic ensemble competition, piano class, with 86 per cent. Miss Alberta Michael's Westmount piano class came second with 84 and the McDougall-Parkdale piano class under the direction of Mrs. Blanche Thornton, came third with 82 points.

The Grandin school rhythmic ensemble, without piano, under the direction of Miss Mary Hanley, was awarded 90 per cent in their class. They were unopposed.

Former City Man Dead, Hong Kong

Lt.-Col. Leslie M. Warr, former Edmonton resident, serving with a Manitoba regiment at Hong Kong, died on December 24 last, it is revealed in a Canadian army casualty list issued Wednesday.

Mrs. Janet Isobel Warr, 218 Fairburn Block, 97 street and 103A avenue, is the wife of Lt.-Col. Warr.

The former Edmonton soldier's death occurred on the day before the fall of Hong Kong to the Japanese but word of his death has just reached Ottawa. The cause of his death is not stated.

Mrs. Warr has been residing in the Fairburn Block for about four months. It was learned by The Bulletin. She was notified of the death of her husband last week.

Given Honor

Malcolm C. McCannel, chartered accountant, of the firm of McCannel Bros. Co., who was unanimously voted fellow of the Institute of Chartered Accountants of Alberta, at a meeting of the provincial executive held recently. Mr. McCannel is president of the Dominion association.

Getting Around

Canada and the United States have shut down completely. Some government officials have actually been so irreverent as to openly declare the machinery and manpower used to mine gold can be used to far better advantage in other ways.

* * *

Total war may be forcing greater sanity on us as a nation. Purely arbitrary concepts of value are being tossed overboard in these strenuous and realistic days.

Gold is, after all, very poor stuff to use as missiles in bombs and shells. We have never heard of it being used for plane bodies or wings. It is almost useless as a conductor of electricity.

Actually a nation, with plenty of iron ore, petroleum nickel and rubber, but without any gold at all, could easily defeat a nation possessing all of the world's gold.

* * *

We read and hear much these days about the grave danger of inflation. Inflation could unquestionably cause tremendous confusion if the people of the nation panicked.

But even inflation could not defeat a nation possessing ample resources of metal, oil, technical equipment and food, providing the people were under rigid mental discipline.

Raiders Hit Malta As Gort Presides At First Meeting

VALETTA, May 27.—(CP)—Axis raiders came over yesterday just as Lord Gort, new governor of Malta, sat down to preside at his first meeting of the council of government. R.A.F. fighters went up downed two Italian fighters, landed without damage to themselves, and the council meeting proceeded without interruption.

What Council Did

Instructed the City Clerk to prepare a suitable letter to be sent under the seal of the City of Edmonton to the city of Melbourne, Australia, a congratulatory message on its achieving its one hundredth birthday. The centenary will be celebrated on August 12 next.

* * *

Instructed the city commissioners to confer with administrative officers of No. 4 Initial Training school R.C.A.F. to determine suitable evening hours for bus service from Steen's drug store to the University buildings. The Commissioners were instructed also to enquire into the bus service to be given during summer school term at the University.

* * *

Deferred discussion on the proposed increase of street railway fares from five to four for 25 cents until the next regular meeting. This action was taken because of the absence of Mayor John W. Fry and Aldermen Sidney Bowcott and Guy Patterson, K.C.

* * *

Accepted the recommendation of the finance committee, granting an easement of $1.000 to the Foote and Askew firm on the power plant extension contract, and also the payment of $200 to Messrs. Pilkington Bros., (Canada) for additional lights of glass placed in the power house building.

* * *

Excluded from the 1942 gravelling and grading program the work on 147 street between 102 and 103 avenues on representations from residents on the street. Exception was taken to the work being proceeded with on the ground that it would increase taxation. It was suggested this was work that could usefully be laid over until after the war's conclusion.

Council May Take Action About Housing

tion on the nine Japanese families already given permission to come to the city. Commissioner R. J. Gibb said, as far as was known by the commissioners, only four of those given permission had arrived. He added that enquiry would be made regarding the other five.

It was suggested by an alderman that all Japanese coming to Edmonton should be asked to report to the Chief of Police on arrival here.

City Solicitor T. E. Garside said that all applicants had been thoroughly investigated by the R.C.M.P., and that undoubtedly the British Columbia Commission would not grant permission to any suspected person to move into other territory.

Ald. J. H. Ogilvie said that in permitting Japanese to come here the city was co-operating with the federal government in its policy of removing all Japanese, whether Canadian born, naturalized or Japanese nationals, from the coast defence area.

BUSSES APPROVED

Council approved the action of the commissioners in purchasing three trolley busses at a cost of $21,000 each from the Mack Trucks of Canada Ltd. It was pointed out by Commissioner R. J. Gibb that the commissioners had to act quickly in this matter as there was keen competition to acquire he busses. Permission for the Transit Controller for the purchase had been obtained. The busses will be manufactured in the United States.

The recommendation of purchasing agent J. T. McCreath that uniforms for the Police department, street railway and fire departments and other uniformed civic services be bought at a cost of $12,976.30 was adopted by council. The uniforms are for 1942 requirements and will be made by the Edmonton firms Messrs. LaFleche and Kaye Ltd.

Council decided that during the months of June, July and August the regular council meeting in each month be discontinued. If business of sufficient importance arises a special meeting will be called to deal with it.

Cosmopolitan Club To Sponsor Ball Game For Cigarette Fund

Stars who twinkled brightly in the baseball firmament a few years ago, will return to the diamond here next month in a contest to raise funds for smokes for Northern Alberta soldiers, airmen and sailors serving overseas.

The baseball game, sponsored by the Edmonton branch of the Cosmopolitan club, will be between a nine made up of old-timers and Cal Pickles' Dodgers of the Senior City Baseball League. It will be played on the evening of June 20, starting at 7.15 p.m. at Renfrew park.

Preliminary arrangements for staging the contest were made at the regular luncheon meeting of the Cosmopolitan Club, held at the Corona Hotel at noon Tuesday.

President W. A. "Bill" White of the club announced the decision to stage the game and details of the contest were then given by Charlie Tanney, chairman of the committee in charge.

THE OLD GUARD

Muscles that may have become a bit stiff will be loosened and once keen, batting eyes will be sharpened up again by such stalwarts of a few seasons back as: Norman Dodge, Cliff Robinson, Phil Horne, Jack Slafaty, Stan Mohort, Art Hugh John MacDonald, K.C., M.L.A., Clayton Dolighan, Glen Wilkie, Hub Thompson, Scotty Thompson, Bert Croft, Ed. McHugh, Louis McGillis, Earl Davidson, Jack Davidson, Walter Wagner, Bobby Garbutt and Eddie Shore and others who may be available.

George Mackintosh president of the Edmonton Senior Baseball League, told the club members the league would do everything possible to assure the success of the contest and predicted the game should draw a capacity crowd of 4,000, with energetic promotion.

Cosmopolitan club will retain none of the profits from the game but will use every cent for the purchase of cigarettes and tobacco for the men from Northern Alberta now serving overseas.

Lists of Northern Alberta men serving with the three branches of service overseas will be obtained so that none may be overlooked when parcels are being made up.

Mr. Mackintosh also said that steps to obtain the services of park assistants and ground officials free for the occasion.

It is also planned to have officers representing the three branches of the armed services officiate at opening ceremonies, the batteries and batter being made up of naval, army and air force commanders.

Lt.-Col. E. Brown, M.M., E.D., Edmonton area commandant, has already consented to being the first batter.

REAL CONTEST

"This game isn't going to be a funny spectacle. It will be a real contest in which every fan will get his money's worth," Skipper Dodge told newsmen after the meeting. Dodge plans to put his charges through a few stiff workouts before the night of the ball contest.

The club plans to make the supplying of smokes to the boys overseas a permanent duty.

GIVES IDEAS

John Michaels, well known city sportsman promised to give the club all the help he could to put the game over in a big way and made several valuable suggestions, including a cash prize lucky ticket contest to stimulate interest in the game.

Trevor Schoffield and Stan Armstrong, radio announcers at stations CFRN and CJCA respectively, assured the club officials of support from the radio for the game. Representatives of the Journal and The Bulletin assured the support of the Edmonton press.

Sports Events At Cloverdale Prove Success

Sports Day with the Cloverdale Community League is a day for the very young and the old. On Monday, Empire Day, its sports and picnic program included a baby show for boys and girls under one year, in which 12 babies in the district were entered.

Winners of the baby contest were Leonard Fredderly, boys under 1; Wayne Place, boys over 1; Baby Croft, girls under 1; and Muriel Smart, girls over 1 year. Dr. Mary Grant Alack and Miss McCoy of the school staff were judges.

At this point, rain halted proceedings on the sports grounds, and novelty races, mixed and single men ball game and a game with Eastwood girls were abandoned. Love's orchestra played music in the new hall, where dancing was enjoyed until midnight. A bingo game was held in the skating rink building.

Officials in charge were G. F. Hustler, Wray Robbins, E. Garding, Mrs. D. Godwin, Mrs. A. Searle Miss Mollie Holland, Mrs. Jack Kelly, Mrs. Oliver Christianson, Mrs. Nellie Pilling, Mr. and Mrs. Alec Forrester, Mrs. W. B. Campbell, Mrs. Coyle, Mat. Thompson.
